MISCELLANEOUS CASE AGAINST SRI TAGADUR

CITY MAGISTRATE'S DIRECTIVE

Mysore 11

The City Magistrate Mr. M. D. Shivananjappa acquitted yesterday P. N. Srikantiah, Manager of the India Coffee House, Mysore for the alleged offence of collecting sales tax on a fraction of rupee as 'no offence was deemed to have been committed by the accused as the payment of sales tax was made voluntarily'.

The complainant Tagadur Ramachandra Rao alleged that on 10-1-54 the accused collected sales tax of three pies in respect of bill of Rs. 0-10-6 from the complainant which was contrary to the provisions of the Act.

The Magistrate held that there was no case against the accused since the complainant has stated that he had paid the sales tax voluntarily and there was no compulsion.

The Magistrate has further stated that it was a fit case in which the complainant should be called upon to show cause as to why he should not be directed under section 250 Cr. P. C. to pay compensation to the accused. Accordingly the Magistrate has ordered that a miscellaneous case be registered against the complainant under section 250 Cr. P. C. and the accused has been called upon to state his objections

PEOPLE FIRST STANDARDS NEXT

Maintaining standards may be a very important consideration but much more important is the need to provide hands to bring succour to the suffering millions of India. This point was emphasised by Prime Minister at the National Development Council.

Speaking about the paucity of trained personel in the country, he said there was need to maintain standards in medical, education and engineering. But it was essential that they should do something. 'It would not do to deprive millions of people of these services because you are keeping up your standards. Were they keeping up standards for some people in cities and towns while millions were lacking even the very elementary services ? I would even be willing to send halfqualified or quarter-qualified hands, so that these people may get something during this transitional period', he declared.

RAISE IN LIFE EXPECTANCY

MYSORE STATE CLAIMS 46 YEARS

The average expectation of life in Mysore State, according to the recent statistics, has climbed to 46 years against 31 registered during 1941.

Explaining the reasons for this longevity, Dr. Chandrasekharaiya, Director of Health stated that change of food habits, specially introduction of wheat was a major factor. Another was the rise in the purchasing power of the people due to war conditions, particularly the lower middle calsses, though the middle class sector itself was hard hit. It was also due to intensive efforts of the Health Department to control malaria and plague, which, he claimed, had been practically eliminated in the State.

The statistics disclosed that during the period from 1940 to 1953, the lowest birth rate (31. 0) and the lowest infant mortality (63. 1) rate were recorded in 1948, whereas the death rate which stood at 37. 8 in 1944had gone on continously decreasing until it was below 17. 0 in 1952-53. The coincidence of the highest birth rate and the lowest birth rate in 1955 and the abolition of rationing in 1952 obviousily proved that rationing had its maximum effect in 1952. In places where the Health Unit's activities had been in existence for a few years the expectation of life was as high as 57 years.

WARNING TO ELECTRICAL EMPLOYEES

GOVT. EXPLAINS POSITION

Bangalore 11

The Government of Mysore in a Press Note, explaining the position of the Government Electrical Employees about the several amenities provided to them and how far their demands had been met, warned them not to contemplate any step which might have serious consequences to themselves and to the welfare of the State.

The Press Note says ' the Government have already been mindful of the interests of the employees of the Department and have accordingly granted to them several concessions and amenities which is not commonly enjoyed by most other sections of Government employees. It is a common practice in the Department that construction of quarters for working staff goes hand in hand with the execution of works. Quarters have thus been provided in almost all mofussil places and to a certain extent, even in places like Mysore and Bangalore, at considerable cost to Government. Employees of the Department drawing a salary of Rs. 100 and below are allowed to occupy those quarters free of rent, while rent at only half the prescribed rate is recovered from those drawing above Rs. 100. Special educational facilities for the children of the employees have been provided at the expenses of the Department. There are also other amenities like clubs, canteens, e.c., in various places.

' It has been made to appear that certain representations made on behalf of the Union have not been considered by Government. The position is that while the question of registering certain amendments to the bye-laws of the Union has seperately been under the consideration of the Commissioner for Labour, the requests made on behalf of the Union been examined in all their aspects. The representations relate among other things, to the revision of pay and Dearness Allowance, confirmation of temporary employees, fixation of working hours and holidays, provision of uniforms, clothing, medical aid and other amenities, etc A number of their requests have already attained fulfillment. A number of other requests such as subsidising the extra insurance premium, supply of coffee to employees on night duty, provision of suitable alternative relife in places where quarters are not available are under the active consideration of the Government. The remaining represenations which mostly relate to revision of of scales of pay and dearness allowance involve far-reaching financial implications, besides evident repercussions on the conditions of service of other Government employees. '

' It would be incorrect and misleading to say that the representations have not been considered. Government hope that the employees of the Department who have so far rendered valuable services to the State and to the public would continue to do so and not contemplate any step which might have serious conequences to themselves and to the welfare of the State. '

REJOINDER

Referring to the Government's stand, the General Secretary of the Electrical Employees Union states that those said to have been fulfilled were of minor nature and the demands not conceded by the Government were the most important.

'So long as this Department' he says ' keeps men on a monthly salary of Rs. 14 and a few thousands of lowpaid men as temporary employees, even after putting in five years of service and more, the Government have no moral right to expect honest service from these employees'.

The results of the strike ballot would show both to the Union and the Government whether the employees were satisfied with the present conditions of service, he adds.

DEFINITION OF POLITICIAN

The Prime Minister Pandit Nehru thinks that 'the only specialised activity which does not require training is that of a politician'.

"It only requires a certain aptitude, a certain amount of gumption. I don't mean it applies to every kind of politician; otherwise, we cannot get on. I mean to say there is no standard of training there. Obviously there is none" he said.

VOLUNTARY ORGANISATIONS IN SOCIAL WELFARE WORK

PRESIDENT PRASAD'S PLEA

The idea of a Welfare State is good and is no doubt being pursued by the Government of India. But just as in the field of economics, more so in the field of welfare it is necessary to pursue a mixed welfare policy, observed President Rajendra Prasad inaugurating yesterday, the first conference of the Chairmen of States Social Welfare Boards at New Delhi.

The President said in a vast country like ours, a network of social organizations would be necessary to create a Welfare State. luckily, however, traditions of voluntary social service are as old in India as her history. Many of these voluntary organizations have been doing pioneering work over a number of years.

It is therefore a very happy idea to enlist the co-operation of such voluntary organizations for carrying on the work of social welfare. The voluntary effort in this sphere, which was isolated and sporadic, has now received public recognition for the first time, and he was glad to see that it has been dovetailed into a comprehensive national plan of social welfare and thus placed on a sound permanent footing.

It is heartening to note that the Central Board recognized that it was not enough to extend financial aid to welfare organizations which are mostly localised in or around urban areas. Our rural areas do not receive the attention they deserve at the hands of social workers. I am glad to see that a nexus has now been established between the urban and the rural areas.

The whole gamut of activity under the Five Year Plan can be roughly divided under two heads-economic and social. While the need for social services is greater, the wherewithal for the same is not available to the required extent. Economic progress being the means to achieve social progress of the community, which is the end, has to be given some preference. And that is exactly how we are proceeding about the implementation of the Five Year Plan, he added.

Smt. Durgabai Deshmukh, Chairman addressing said that the Central Social Welfare Board during its 14 months of existence had not only provided assistance to a large number of institutions engaged in social welfare but also promoted. on a pioneering scale, a number of Welfare Extension Projects all over the country. The most important aspect was to encourage voluntary effort in the field of social welfare since non-official organisations which alone could lend the essential human touch to the problems. A provision of Rs. 4 crores had been given for the Board for giving grants to thousands of of welfare institutions in the country. Out of this Rs. 27.5 lakhs had been sanctioned to about 900 institutions and another sum of Rs. 34.2 lakhs covered the expenditure for Welfare Extension Projects. Further plan of Rs. 3.35 crores to be spent in the remaining 16 months. She hoped that now the organisational set up was completed the tempo of work would be accelerated.

Referring to unemployment problem, she said the Board had decided to launch a pilot project in Delhi for giving women useful employment like match industry in their own home during their leisure hours

A Development and Research Section and a Social Welfare Journal had been added.

Smt. Durgabai steesing the importance of co-ordination appealed to all social workers and welfare administrators in the country to join together and participate in the 'mighty adventure of nation building'.

PROTEST AGAINST RELIGIOUS PROPAGANDA

Christian Missionary Meeting Ends Abruptly

Mysore, 15

Mr. K. Puttaswamy, Municipal President was heckled last evening by a section of the audience assembled inside the Townhall demanding immediate stopping of religious propaganda meetings being held.

The occasion was when the Christian missionaries addressing the meeting arranged by the Bible Society were alleged to have spoken in derogatory terms about the Hindu religion. A section of the people, whose feelings were hurt surrounded the Municipal President, who happened to come there and demanded why the Municipality had allowed the use of Townhall for religious propaganda.

Mr. K. Puttaswamy pacified the audience and assured them that such meetings would not be allowed in future.

The lecture-meeting then ended abruptly.

[It is really surprising that while the whole country was rejoicing over the Pandit Nehru's birthday as Children's Day celebrations, the Christian missionaries thought it fit to have their own religious propaganda meeting behind closed doors in the Townhall, ignoring Panditji's celebrations taking place at the same time at their very doors.-Ed].

ELECTRIC EMPLOYEES VOTE FOR STRIKE

STRIKE-DATE TO BE FIXED ON NOV 23

Mysore 16

Mr. K. Kannan, President of the Government Electric Department Employees' Union, announced here this morning, at a press conference that 98 percent of the members of the State Union have voted in favour of strike. He said that out of 9956 members who participated in the strike-ballot taken all over the State during Nov 9 to 14, 8869 voted in favour of strike, 93 against and 94 votes being invalid.

Mr. Kannan said that the electrical employees of the State met in August last and placed their demands before the Government for redressal of their service conditions. The Government did not respond in any way but on the otherhand created legal complications and interfered with the normal functions of the Registrar of Trade Union in registering the amendments of the bye-laws of the Union. The Government had been adopting a callous attiude towards the electrical men of the State, besides flouting all laws and neglecting the interests of several thousand workers working under their direct control.

Mr. Kannan said that the Union was not unmindful of the serious consequences of the strike and assured that employees were not itching for direct action. Even now it was not too late for Government to give an undertaking to effect three of their major demands namely, revision of pay scales, minimum of Rs. 40 dearness allowance and confirmation of temporary employees numbering 4000.

He further stated that the Electrical Department was being run by Government as commercial concern and were making net profit of Rs.80 lakhs per annum. If all their demands were acceeded to, additional expenditure to the Government would be Rs. 50 lakhs. Even then the Government would have a net profit of Rs. 30 lakhs he added. Out of 12000 employees 7000 were getting below Rs. 30 per month. More than 5000 persons were treated as temporary employees including those who had put in 25 years of service.

The President said that the Union would meet at Bhadravathi on Nov 23 and fix the strike date and then issue strike notice to Government. Meanwhile he assured that the door was still open for negotiations and settlement of demands.

AYURVEDIC COLLEGE STUDENTS THREATEN STRIKE

PROTEST AGAINST GOVERNMENT'S APATHY

Mysore 17

The students of the Government Ayurvedic and Unani College, here, have decided to go on a token-strike for three days from Dec 4 as a protest against the attitude of the Government in not providing the College with required amenities.

Mr. N. R. Setty, Secretary of the Students' Association of the above College announcing this decision at a press conference held this morning said that they were forced to take this decision for drawing the attention of the Government and the public to the need of meeting their rightful demands in the interest of general welfare of the public.

He said that 'we have been repeatedly urging on the Government to give us facilities as are given to students of similar colleges in other States. But the Government have not taken any step to provide us with even the minimum requirements to vouch for us the required knowledge with which we may practice medicine'.

Important demands made by the students were registration and control of practice of Indian Medicine in the State, inter-state recognition for Mysore students, upgrading of the college, appointment of qualified teaching staff, better pharmacy facilities, increasing bed strength of hospital to atleast 300, constitution of a Board of Studies and Examiners to maintain a high standard of teaching and examination and provision of adequate accommodation for college, hospital and hostel.

CITY HOTEL-WORKERS' WAGE SCALE

DEARNESS ALLOWANCE INSTEAD OF BOARDING & LODGING

INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL AWARD

Mysore, 18

The Industrial Tribunal of Mysore have issued their award on the pay, holidays and other questions of dispute between the employees and management of hotels and restaurants in Mysore City. The award is to take effect from Sept. 30.

The award has classified hotels into four classes, "A" to "D", according to their turnover and fixed minimum wages for different classes of workers. At the same time the Tribunal have directed that this wage structure is to be implemented without detriment to the workmen who are already getting higher salary in the various scales of pay.

The minimum wages fixed ranges from Rs. 20 for cleaners to Rs. 40 for head-cooks, the maximum being Rs. 100. Following are the details of wage scale for the four classes of hotels:

Headcooks 40-100 [a]; Rs. 40-84 [b]; 40-62 [c] and 40-50 [d]. Assistant cooks 30-50; 30-45; 30-40; 30-35. Servers 24-50; 24-39½; 24-30; 24-27. Cleaners 20-32; 20-29; 20-26; 20-23. Grinders 24-50., 24-39½, 24-27. Stores 25-60., 25-50., 25-35., 25-30.

The Tribunal has stated that instead of boarding and lodging dearness allowance is to be paid to the workers at the rates Government pay its employees in the city.

Regarding holidays, Ugadi Republic Days are to be holidays for hotel workers, in addition to those under the Shops and Establishments Act.

The Tribunal has also made the management responsible for the treatment of workers injured in the course of their duty and payment of salaries and dearness allowance during the period of treatment.

The Tribunal has opined that in these modern days hotels have come to stay in the country. It is necessary that the management should provide wholesome food and eatables to his customers. In that view workmen employed owed a duty to the public in as much as the health of the public should not suffer. The State is also to see that the workman is paid an adequate sum for his sustenance. A sympathetic approach is necessary to raise the standard of living of hotel workers. It is seen that a ridiculously low salary of Rs. 4 is being paid to a cleaner in some hotels. Hence the Tribunal has fixed the above mentioned minimum wages.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Religious Meetings

Sir,

Because of so much misunderstanding concerning the recent religious meetings in the Rangacharlu Town Hall, I write this request for you to please clarify the picture by publishing this explanation.

The public lectures opened on Oct 31. From the beginning we realised that there would be some people who would object to public lectures on Christianity....We made absolutely no reference to any other religion or church. There was not even a hint of criticism or a shade of insinuation against any religion in existence. We simply presented the Bible teaching concerning Christianity. Neverthless, those who opposed the public presentation of Christianity tried in many ways to hinder the lectures. We did not make requisition for police to be present, but they were in attendance at the meetings........ No meeting was ever cut short or prohibited. Some times, after the meeting there would be some disturbance but it could not be considered a breach of peace....Neverthless Municipal Commissioner issued an order on Nov 14 revoking our permit to use the Townhall....It is not true that the meetings closed because of the speakers' criticism of other religions. There was no such criticism or occasion for offence. Most of those lectures are preserved in printed form and speak for themselves.

PEACEFUL CO-EXISTENCE

PANDIT NEHRU'S PLEA

Prime Minister Nehru in his broadcast-interview through the B.B.C. last night regarding his recent visit to China said that the Chinese leaders were definitely and precisely for peaceful existence with those who were opposed to them and they were prepared to have friendly relations, diplomatic relations with all countries including those who were opposed to them. 'My own impression' Pandit Nehru said 'is that the Chinese people's Government have given me many evidences of their peaceful intentions during the past several months. They of course deny any desire to interfere; they are quite clear about that; I am not aware of any specific interference recently anywhere'.

"Judging from impressions of large crowds I have seldom come across a people inclined to more friendliness and peaceful co-operation.

"I think that security can only be ensured by a friendly approach to each other. By an aggressive approach or by an approach which has an element of threat or fear either way security is endangered. Of course every country wants to take steps to protect itself from danger. Now I think a change is taking place since the Geneva agreement and it is desirable, since this GenevaAgreement, to pursue that path further, not through any element of threat but rather by friendly co-operation and understanding", Pandit Nehru added.

BIG RISE IN KHADI SALES

POLICE SUB-INSPECTOR JAILED

SIX MONTHS R. I. FOR BRIBERY

Mysore 24

K.V.Gundu Rao, PoliceSub-Inspector of Krishnarajpet was convicted and sentenced by the Mysore District and Sessions Judge Mr. H. Hombe Gowda, to six months rigorous imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 200 indefault further one month R. I. for offences under section 5 cl. 2. of Prevention of Corruption Act 1947 read with section 161 I. P. C. for receiving illegal gratification.

The prosecution alleged that the accused accepted illegal gratification of Rs. 100 on 28-10-53 from B. Malige Gowda of Billenahalli in Krishnarajpet Taluk as a reward for submitting a 'B' report in a case of theft in which Nanje Gowda, brother of Malige Gowda was involved as an accused.

In sentencing the accused the learned Judge has observed that 'there cannot be any doubt that corruption is a grate offence and any public servant that commits an offence of corruption should be dealt with severely. The accused was holding a responsible position as a Sub-Inspector and has misused his position and has induced a villager to pay him bribe to do him some favour. But the fact that the accused has put in a few years of service and this is his first offence and he is sure to be dismissed from service on the findings of this Court should also be taken into consideration in awarding the sentence. Considering all these aspects, I am of view that ends of justice will be met by sentencing him as stated above'.

TYPICAL MAHARAJA'S COLLEGE STUDENT!

Well, here is a typical Maharaja's College student!

He sleeps for 7½ hours, visits picture houses atleast once a week, and places of worship 'only occasionally'.

His supreme ambition is to become an Administrative Officer or a teacher.

So for his political affinities are concerned, he likes Congress best (55 per cent) and then surprisingly enough Communism (25 per cent) takes precedent over socialism (16 per cent.)

He likes co-education 'very much' but does not so much relish the idea of inter-caste marriages. He does not take part in sports nor does he take physicial exercise daily. He is fond of music but he himself cannot sing. If the student is a lady, the odds are four to ten that she can sing. He is not independent - only seven per cent earn a living.

The above results were arrived at after a ten per cent sample survey conducted by M. Sc. (Statistics) students of the Maharaja's College.

TWELVE ENGLISH TEXTS SCHEME ABANDONED

———:o:———

ACADEMIC COUNCIL'S DECISION

Mysore, 29

Mr. V. L. D'Souza, Vice-chancellor presiding a meeting of the Academic Council of the Mysore University was held here on Saturday at the Crawford Hall.

The Inter-University Board's resolution that there sohuld be a uniformity of standards in examinations in all University and the examination marks be raised to 70 per cent for first class, 55 to 69 per cent for second class and 40 per cent for third class was considerd at length by the AcademicCouncil. Although the Council was in agreement with the Board for raising the standard and uniformity in examinations all over Indian universities, the members felt it could not be achieved all atonce without making other adjustments. Hence the matter was referred back to the Board of Studies for further consideration.

On a motion from Prof. Anantharamiah, the Council agreed to reduce the text-books in English from twelve to five. The mover pointed out the hardship caused to the students by the prescription of twelve text books in English, which in his opinion did not help the students as a hurried study was a futile one.From the begining, the students had oppsed this and they did not take interest. Prof. K. V. Puttappa while support- the proposition pleaded for teaching of English texts in Kannada as the students would understand them better.Profs.C. D.Narasimiah and M.A. Bhartarajsingh opposed the proposition and said by reducing the number of text-books they would lower the standard of theEnglish.Howeve or the rmotion was adopted with a large majority.

Prof. K. V. Puttappa's resolution for interducing two papers and providing four hours of tuation per week in Kannada for Inter Scince was defeated by 22-47 votes. It was opposed on the ground that it was not practicable as the science students were already over-loaded.

The scheme for offering Evening Course for the B. Ed. degree examination was adopted. The mover Mr. Rangachar pointed out the dearth of trained graduate-teachers in the State and said the number of graduate teachers being trained in the University was not sufficient and hence it was desirable to have evening courses. Dr. Siddalingiah stated that to increase the strength of trained teachers in the state, such a course was necessary. Mr. T. S. Rajgopaliengar opposing said that it would not be a practicable solution since the teachers would not evince interest after their havy work in the morning.

Introduction of post-graduate diploma in Medical Psycholegy a two-year course, open to those who have passed the M. A. degree examination in Psychology, at the All India Institute of Mental Health, Bangalore was adopted.

The institution of a Faculty of Indian Medicine in the University was referred back to the University Council for further consideration. The Special Committee constituted by the University had recommended the institution of a five-year degree course in Bachelor in Indian Medicine anl Sugery for students who had passed Intermediate in science with P. C. M. or P. C. B. as optionals and Sanskrit as second languge for Ayurvedica branch and Persian or Arabic for the Unani.

Two members of the Committee Dr. V. R. Naidu and Dr. Y. Appaji had however opposed the schme on the ground that if the two systems were mixed it would create a class of doctors who would not be proficient in either of the systems and would become quacks in both.

The Council also approved the institution of a two-year post-graduate Masters Degree course in Commerce.

C.M. SEEKS VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

Bangalore, 2

Sri K. Hanumanthaiya, the Chief Minister has convened a meetiog of the Mysore Legislature Congress on Dec. 11 at the premises of the Old Residency, Bangalore for seeking a vote of confidence.

Addressing a Press conference, Sri Hanumanthiah said " it is not correct to say that I was unwilling to take a vote of confidence and that it was thrust on me as a directive from the High Command. At no time was there any doubt that I did not command the confiedence of the party. It I had felt at any time that the majority of the party had lost confidence in me, that very day I would have resigned, without having recourse to any of these proceedings of party.

'what I was very particular about was, everything done in the party must smoothen matters so as to bring about a better atmosphere and harmony within the Congress. In my opinion, a vote-taking was likely to adversely affect the atmosphere. It would confirm hostilities and further crystallise partisan attitudes and make comprimise efforts useless.

'I discussed this matter with the President of the Congress Pandit Nehru when I was in Delhi last. After I came back from Delhi I myself wrote a letter to the Congress President on Nov 25 and subsequently I sent a wire to expedite a meeting of the party for this purpose. Yesterday I received a reply that the party meeting can be convened for the 9th or 10th of December and that Mr. C. Madhavan Nair will represent the High Command during the vote-taking'.

TRUTH AND GOODNESS IN EDUCATION

RAJAPRAMUKH'S PLEA IN YUVARAJA'S COLLEGE JUBILEE

Mysore 2

The four-day silver jubilee celebrations of the local First Grade College, now named as Yuvaraja College, was inaugurated on Tuesday by His Highness the Rajapramukh.

Mr. V. L. D' Souza, Vice-chancellor of the Mysore University welcoming the Rajapramukh paid tributes to the Royal Family for their democratic decision in sending Prince Jayachamaraja Wodeyar to a common college to mix freely with his future subjects and said that the Prince acquitted himself very well without favour or fear. Referring to the growth of the College, he said that its strength had increased from 400 to 2200 students and humoursly added that this unprecedented growth had posed the problem of administrative family planning to the University.

Dr. L. Sibiah, Principal of the College presented an address and souvenir to the Rajapramukh, detailing the activities of the college during these twenty-five years.

His Highness at the outset said that he was very happy to participate in this function not only because he was an old boy of this College but because its new name of Yuvaraja's College served to emphasise the happy association of himself and his House.

Continuing the Rajapramukh said.-

Reorganisation from time to time is in the very nature of educational planning since there can be no finality in methods of learning any more than in political or social systems. Neither for individuals nor for mankind as a whole can the programme of education ever be considered to have been completed. But as in most human affairs, so too in educational planning, it is essential to achieve a happy reconciliation between preservation and change. Indeed the dominant note in modern civilization is that of reconciliation and coordination—between order and progress, ethics and economies, science and art, nationalism and world citizenship.

University education is one of the modes of discharging the intellectual and cultural responsibility imposed by society upon itself for the progressive realisation of a better life by its members. This responsibility is every day becoming more onerous in consequence of the expansion of both knowledge and power.

The development of science and the growth of machinery have added proportionately to the importance of art and morality in life and the humanities in education. Modern Science has posed a question to the human race: Will you have peace and prosperity or will you have war and annihilation?—for there is no doubt that we can kill quicker and in a more wholesale manner than ever before. The choice has to be made, and made urgently and wisely. Expanding knowledge is giving us every day more and more to think about. Civilization in a democratic age needs more thinking on the part of every single citizen. It is by deep and right thinking that knowledge can be turned into wisdom and cured of its potentialities for evil.

In consonance with the needs of the times, it is necessary in the Universities to pursue alike the study of the sciences and the humanities. It is literature, philosophy and history which not only inculcate virtue but also develop imagination, taste and love of beauty. Without the balance and restraint that they teach, government would degenerate into regimentation, and life into mere existence. while science might destroy civilization. In any system of education, the centre of gravity should be located in truth and goodness, and for the realisation of this object the study of the humanities should go hand in hand with the pursuit of the science which are ethically neutral.

Yesterday evening Mrs. D'Souza distributed prizes to the various winners in sports competitions held in connection with silver jubilee celebrations. Mr. V. L. D'Souza, presided.

ERADICATION OF UNTOUCHABILITY

MYSORE GOVERNMENT'S DRIVE

Bangalore 4

The measures taken by the Mysore Government to eradicate the untouchability in the State was explained by the Chief Minister Sri K. Hanumanthiah at a press conference held yesterday.

The Chief Minister stated that the various meaures that had so far been taken by Government had no doubt been effective, but it was now considered very necessary to make a vigorous drive to remove untouchability. The surest foundation for social equality between the scheduled castes and the other communities could be laid if the problem was tackled at the stage of eduction of boys and girls. Efforts should be made to make these boys and girls feel that they were the citizens of one country and were on an equal footing. Untouchability as such did not exist in the schools and colleges. Government felt that this could be usefully extended to hostels which were managed or aided by Government. Action was now being taken to admit non-scheduled caste students also into these hostels.

At present, there were not adequate water facilities for Harijans in many villages of the State. As per their scheme for providing water supply in rural areas, 8500 wells had been sunk during the last ten years. During the current year 692 wells at a cost of Rs. 13 lakhs had been sanctioned. Out of these 105 were for the Depressed classes. In order that this facility should be made available to everybody in the rural areas and particularly to the Harijans, the Government had ordered a special survey to be conducted of all the Harijan areas in the State which were without wells.

NEED FOR PROTECTION OF WILD LIFE

MYSORE RAJAPRAMUKH'S PLEA

Mysore 12

His Highness the Rajapramukh, Chairman of the Central Wild Life Board in a Broadcast last night pleaded for the preservation of wild life in the country as a great national asset.

The Rajapramukh said "Nature has endowed India with a magnificent asset in its flora and fauna, an asset which cannot fail to be generally appreciated by its people. It has been truly said that no natural resources is more sensitive to conservation than wild life and that no natural resource has suffered more from lack of conservation During the last 60 or 70 years, species havo actually been exterminated due to this dificiency.

" There is need for the creation of sane public opinion on the subject of wild life portection in our country. At present such opinion does not exist and in some quarters is even antagonistic. The notion that the animal world especially the untamed part of it, is either a nuisance or a menace is like all prejudices, exaggerated and unfounded. We in this country are under a deep moral obligation to see that the species kept alive. It is vital to the problem of conservation in India that many more States in the country should help in the preservation of our fauna by setting aside specific areas where nature is allowed to develop its own phase and no exploitation is allowed.

' Let us remember that in all great literature, including our own, man's imagination has sought not only to evoke beauty but to garner wisdom from the animal world in its sylvan setting. We owe it to our love of beauty and to our love of science and knowledge, we owe it to our deep love and reverence for all forms of life, to prevent senseless destruction of what is still left of our fauna and to preserve it in its natural surroundings as a great national asset'.

CONGRESS WITHDRAWS SUPPORT IN T–C.

The Kerala Pradesh Congress Committee and the T–C. Legislature Congress Party, at its meeting held yesterday decided to withdraw its support to the nine–month old P.S.P. Ministry in the State.

The Congress Party felt that the last nine months experience of this co–operation had caused all–round disillusionment to the Congress. It alleged that the climax of the 'villification campaign' by responsible members of the P. S. P. against the Congress was reached when the Chief Minister recently was reported to have stated that given two years, he would see that the Congress organisation was wound up and that he would invite all Congressmen to join the Praja-Socialist party,

The meeting opined that the last nine months administration by the P. S. P. had been an utter failure.

This decision leaves the P.S.P. Ministry without a majority in the Assembly.

INDIA SHOULD NOT COPY OTHER COUNTRIES

Prime Minister Nehru addressing a public meeting at Lucknow, declared that India should not try to copy the pattern of any outside country in bringing about a Socialist State. He said he had no objection to people discussing various ideologies so long as they did nct conceive of destroying the existing foundations to build a new order. The days of talking in the air about abstract ideologies would no longer be of any avail in the atomic age, in which peoples should work unitedly both to strengthen and to enrich the country.

India wanted to establish friendly relations with all nations in the world. She was particularly concerned about maintaining friendly relations with he neighbours. It was India's earnest desire to improve her relations with Pakistan and some day or other conflicts between the two countries would give away to a better understanding.

REFRAIN FROM STRIKE

GOVERNMENT'S APPEAL TO ELECTRICAL WORKERS

——:o:——

Bangalore 15

In connection with the strike notice issued by the State Electrical Employees Union, the Mysore Government in a press note issued yesterday has stated that the employees of the Electrical Department were in receipt of amenities which employees of no other Government department were enjoing and in some respects even workers in industrial concerns were not accorded.

Quarters had been provided for the employees in all places free of rent for those drawing Rs. 100 per month and below. Besides an employee was in receipt of free water and electricity and also a special locality allowance. He was also entitled for leave of all kinds, pension, gratuity under the Mysore Service Regulations. By virtue of his being deemed to be a factory-worker under the Labour Laws, he was also getting amenities like holidays, overtime wages, injury leave and had all the rights under the Labour Laws.

These concessions had been granted at a time when the Electrical Department, which was a commercial department had been running at a loss. Government had invested nearly Rs.26 crores and the net revenue from the department was not sufficient even to meet interest on that capital at three per cent whereas the rate of interest prescribed for other Government Industrial Concerns was four percent and hence they were incurring a loss of Rs. 13 lakhs. Inspite of this, the Government had at all times considered with the utmost sympathy all reasonable representations of the employees. One would therefore had thought that the workers would had a sense of contentment and only made such repesentations as would be justified by the financial position of the department. But the Union came up with a list of demands, which, if conceded, would involve an additional expenditure of Rs. 40 to 45 lakhs per year

If these demands were conceded, it inevitably meant a phenomenal rise in the rates charged to consumers of electricity besides a serious curtailment of the development activities of the department and an additional burden on the taxpayer.

In the conciliation proceedings, as many as 19 out of 25 representations were fulfilled in an agreed manner, and the rest of the demands were dropped by the Union. It was hoped that as a result of this conciliatory attitude the Union would have agreed to a reasonable period of industrial truce. It was therefore put to it that no fresh demands should be made during the agreed period of the proposed settlement. This was not a novel proposition at all.

Government hoped that even now better counsel would prevail among the emplopees and that they would refrain from the proposed strike move. However the Government were making arrangements to maintain electricity service to the maximum possible extent in the event of a Strike,

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TRAFFIC ISLANDS

Sir,

If traffic islands are meant to avoid accidents and add to the beautification of the city I assure the municipality that is responsible for their formation, that the unusually big island in front of the Prabhudeva Talkies, where no less than five roads converge, cannot be said by any stretch of imagination either as serving the purpose or reflecting any aesthetic taste. Uncouth in its size and out of all proportion, this island deserves immediate remodelling. There are several such traffic islands in the city, which the Municipality would do well to immediately pay attention to.

Dr.Visweswaraya observed that better utilization of man power was an urgent necessity of today' India had an enormous population. If any Western country had it, would have treated it as an asset to produce wealth, income and power. Another important development should be vocational education. Enterpriase and efficieney should be encouraged by Government he added.

UNIVERSITY TEACHERS TO GET MORE PAY

——:o:——

VICE-CHANCELLOR'S ANNOUNCEMENT

Mysore 20

The minimum salary of the teaching staff in the University will be raised to Rs. 150 from the next official year, announced the Vice-Chancellor Mr. V. L. D' Souza, replying to the debate on the budget-estimates for 1955-56 presented to the Senate, held on Saturday.

He also said that provident scheme would be extended to the staff of the affiliated colleges. Expansion programmes of the University include introduction of music classes in all mofussil colleges, extension of N. C. C. to Davangere and Shimoga Colleges and appointment of an Additional Registrar.

During discussion on budget, the members suggested better hostel facilities, more scholarships, starting of a Inter College at Chitaldrug and an Engineering College in Bhadravati.

At question-time, Messers. Mulka Govinda Reddy and T.S. Rajagoplaiengar strongly criticised the inordinate delay in admitting students to various colleges. They said that even after five months of opening of colleges, admissions hadnot been completed. This, they pointed out, would handicap the students who could neither complete their term nor their lessons. The members in particular referred to the Medical College which according to the official reply had completed admission only at the end of September. They asked the Principal of the Medical College how a pre-medical student could complete his lessons within hardly three months to go for the examination. Dr. Appaji, the Principal curtly replied 'they are expected to do it'.

PROPOSALS SENT BANK TO 'VARSITY COUNCIL

This had necessitated additional equipment, staff and buildings. He also pointed out that in the Mysore University the scale of fees were lowest spending Rs. 400 annually on every student. This enhancement, he said, mainly effected the science students, who would have to pay compulsorily the additional laboratory fees. The University would realise an additional income of Rs. 3 lakhs from this enhancement.

ELECTRIC WORKERS APPEAL TO C. M.-

INTERVENE AND AVERT STRIKE

Mysore 24

Mr. Kannan, President of the State Electrical Employees Union declared here that they were ever prepared to come to a settlement for averting the impending strike and said that he would be wiring today to the Chief Minister Mr. Hanumanthiah reqesting him to intervene for bringing about a settlement.

Explaining the stand taken by the Union, Mr. Kannan said at a press conference this morning, that they had kept the doors open for settlement on basis of terms agreed upon mutually before the Chief Conciliation Officer. Unfortunately it broke down at last minute due to the Government preventing Union from raising any fresh demands for 18 months. This amounted, he said, doubting bonafides of Union while the Union on their part had not doubted Government's bonafides. Inspite of the Union's best efforts for coming to a settlement, the strike was forced upon them and the responsibility for this was entirely upon the Government. Mr. Kannan clarified that when once strike had commenced their terms now offered for agreement would not hold good. They would go on strike at scheduled hour of 10 on Dec. 27 and continue for indefinite period until all their demands were met.

Asked about the nature of strike, he said Union workers would picket either individnally or in group at power stations and hold rallies and meetiug to mobolise public sympathy. Here he made it clear that Union would not violate any prohibitory orders and they would be peaceful and non-violent.

The Union President pointed out that during his statewide tour, he found that there was complete unity among workers and the public were in sympathy with their demands and leaders of all political parties including Congress had expressed their sympathy and had appealed to the Government to avert the strike.

He said the strike was legal and any attempt on the part of the Government to crush the Union by any unjust methods would smack of totalitarianism and not democracy, he added.

NEED FOR WORLD PEACE

MYSORE PEACE CONVENTION'S PLEA

Mysore, 24

Dr. Mulk Raj Anand, a well-known author and Vice-President of the All-India Peace Committee, inaugurating the Convention on Asian Solidarity and World Peace here last evening pleaded for peace so that our children and grand-children might live happily in the country.

Reviewing the international situation and the imperial policy persued by America, Dr. Mulk Raj said that the recent military pact on South East Asia threatened peace in this region instead of lessening the tension. He traced the freedom movement in Asia and said that it was mainly due to incipient awareness of the people's to be no more treated 'like dogs'. but as equal and honoured citizens with those of other nations. He predicted that China would emerge as the first rate power within the next fifty years even before India could achieve that distinction.

Dr. Anand said that if they were insisting upon maintaining peace in the world, it was because they had suffered and fought hard to achieve their freedom from foreign domination. He wanted every Indian to cultivate a nationalist outlook and quoted the instance of a young Russian Professor living in the interior of Siberia who told the speaker that only on his dead body would an invader be allowed to enter his country. That was the spirit which we too should emulate.

The speaker regretted that the intelligentsia had betrayed the common man by not developing their awareness for preserving the hard-earned freedom. So he appealed to the intelligentsia to come forward and create an atmosphere for peace, if not, for no other reason than in their selfish interest.

Mr. K. Subramanyam, film Director presiding paid glowing tribute to Prime Minister Nehru for his successful efforts towards maintaining world peace. He appealed to the people to wholeheartedly lend their support to Nehru.

Resolutions were passed urging upon the Great Powers to ban atomic and other weapons, to annul the various pacts entered by America with other countries, appealed to Asian countries to be united and strive for peaceful co-existence.

ANOMOLY OF UNCONSTITUTIONAL LEGISLATION

'It was because competent people abstained from the legislature that the anomoly of unconstitutional legislation arose and the only remedy for this was that more members of the Bar should get into the legislatures and take part in formulating laws' observed Sri P. Govind Menon, Judge of the Madras High Court speaking in Madurai Bar Association.

He also favoured a uniform system of land revenue for the whole country and a uniform system of law regarding religious and charitable endowments governing all communities. Piecemeal attempts had been made with regard to codification of the Hindu law. When India was a secular State and when religion was the concern of the individual there was no reason why the State should not have the same kind of personal law, he observed.

STATE-WIDE ELECTRIC WORKERS' STRIKE

UNINTERRUPTED POWER SUPPLY—

ASSURES GOVERNMENT

Mysore, 27

Ten Thousand workers of the Government Electrical Department commenced their indefinite strike throughout the State from today. All the employees laying down their tools, came out from offices exactly at 10 this morning. According to the information received here, the strike, it is stated, was a complete success and peaceful.

In Mysore City, about 1300 employees have struck work. These workers assembling at the premises of the Electrical Office after 10 in the morning, performed 'Ganapathi Puja' and then came out and went in a procession through the main thoroughfare of the city. Mr. Shivaprakasham, Superintendent addressing the workers appealed to them to be peaceful and maintain the good name of Mysore. Later the Deputy Commissioner Mr. K. Bala-Subramanyam who came to the spot also asked the workers to be peaceful.

All precautionary measures have been taken. Reserve Police have been posted at the Electric Office and the Transformer Station. The Deputy Commissioner and the District Superintendent of Police went round the city inspecting the arrangements The Forbes Transformer Station and the Electric office permises have been declared as 'protected areas' and entrance restricted to pass-holders only.

Mr. Shivaprakasham told pressmen this afternoon that power supply to the city from Shimsha, Shivasamudram and Jog was normal. He said that 90 per cent of the operators and 50 per cent of the ministerial staff have reported to duty.

GOVERNMENT'S ASSURANCE

The Chief Electrical Engineer. Mr. George Chandy has assured uninterrupted power supply to the consumers. He has stated that 'we shall try our best to give you power you have been utilising all these days. We shall take care of our consumers'.

Trained military technicians, numbering more than 350 have been posted to several important distributing centres like Mysore, Bhadravathi, Kolar Gold Fields, Bangalore, Thippagondanahalli and Kankanhalli.

Qualified personnel have been posted in charge of three generating stations at Jog, Shivasaumdram and Shimsha. Retired officials of the Electric Department and those on the waiting list for employment have been drafted.

GOVT. WARNS ELECTRIC WORKERS

In connection with the strike of State Electrical Employees from today, the Government have issued the following instructions to all the officers of the Electrical Department:

'Since all the permanent employees of the Department are, governed by the provisions of the Mysore Service Regulations, those that go on strike from Dec. 27, will have to be taken back for duty only after obtaining their explanation for staying out without permission so that their reinstatement could be settled'.

UNION PRESIDENT'S STAND

Mr. Kannan, President of the State Electrical Emyloyees Union, has issued a statement on the eve of their strike.

He stated that 'our last minute efforts to bring about a settlement have failed and this has caused us the greatest regret.

" A strike is not a light matter, whether it is an obscure workshop or in a big plant. It is not an everyday ordinary weapon of the workers. It is a great weapon wielded only when there is no alternative, when some great principles or justice is at stake. We have given days of anxious, serious thought before taking this decision. We have made that clear more than once. We have placed all relevant matter before the public. The last two or three days have convinced us more than ever before that something really fundamental is involved in this strike and earlier decision to strike is more than justified in the light of later events. Now we know why Government did not come to a settlement. They did not want a settlement. It did not want this Union, which seems to be an eyesore to them, to prosper. It did not want a settlement which would enhance the prestige of the Union, as evident from the following facts:

" At the last minute, we suggested an amendment to the agreement that any dispute in the course of the truce period should be settled by direct negotiations, or a Board of Settlement or the Industrial Tribunal. All these strictly legal remedies were spurned by Government, Why did Government refuse to accept this amendment? Do not Government want to adopt legal remedies in settling dispute ".

'Inspite of the efforts made by some public figures, the Electricity Minister refused to meet me and discuss the matter across the table.

'Let Government justify themselves in the eye of the public. Government's attitude threatens the fundamental right of trade union and of the people generally. We appeal to all trade unions and the people to support us till the end '.

Finally Mr. Kannan states " let not Government use force to cripple our strenth, bring black-legs to disrupt our unity and pour money to break up a legal strike or victimise and frighten our workers ".

The engineer, he said, was nearer to the common man, for he was in a position to solve his problems than scientists. He was in a position to make human life easier by putting into practical use the great discoveries of Scientists. It was proper that an engineer should take to the production of industrial goods, as he had the practical skill and experience required for it.

Moonshine Voyage

An appeal court in Holland has reduced by 12 months the 30-month sentence passed on a 31-year-old tailor, Rebert Lombert, who was convicted for £50,000 fraud involving the most fantastic confidence trick played in Holland since the war.

Calling himself 'President Robert', Lombert posed as the head of the Diplomatic Consular Council' which, he said included among its members 'Lord Nottingham, Sir WinstonChurchill and the President of the World Bank'.

He told his friends they would escape the horrors of a third world war-which he said, was imminent, by selling up, putting their money into the 'Council Exchequer' and sailing with him in a luxury yacht to South Africa where the Council had a sanctury.

He bought a yacht with the money thus obtained for £22,500, stocked it with brandy, cigarettes and other luxuries and set sail on a fantastic voyage in 1951.

With him were 18 people who had been duped into believing they were bound for the safe haven.

'President Robert' even issued money bearing his immage, held ceremonies in opulent regalia and ruled the ship with insistence on strict protocol.

The ship called at many ports but never neared South Africa. One by one the passengers and crew became suspicious and demanded their money back.

Eventually Lombert sold the yacht in Southampton and returned to Holland.

INCREASE OF TUBERCULOSIS IN INDIA

25-LAKH SUFFERERS

The incidence of tuberculosis in the country is officially stated to be on the increase. A rough estimate gives the number of persons in India suffering from this disease as 2,500,000. The reason for the increase is attributed to low standards of living and nutrition, poor and inadequate housing conditions,and an increasing tendency on the part of the rural population to move into over-crowded urban dwellings.

From a total of a little over Rs. 220 crores provided in the First Five-Year Plan as the Centre's share for the several health schemes upto end of March this year, only Rs. 29,43,4000 had been spent. The share of the State Government's expenditure on the health schemes under the first plan amounts to Rs. 83 crores.

There would be a gross saving of Rs. 14,000,000 out of which 3,400,000 will be set off against additional expenditure on the sanctioned schemes for the control of T. B. and leprosy and for strengthening the social and preventive medicine departments. The balance of Rs. 10.500,000 will be spent on providing additional equipment for the four T. B. centres, and opening of new health centres.

INCREASE IN NATIONAL INCOME

As result of increased production both in agriculture and industry, the target increase in National Income in the First Five-Year Plan has already been achieved in the third year of the Plan, said Shri A. C. Guha, Minister for Revenue & Defence Expenditure in the Ministry of Finance while inaugurating the 8th All-IndiaCommerce Conference at Jaipur to-day.

Shri Guha highlighted in his speech the progress made in the implementation of the Five-Year Plan against the background of serious problems with which the country was faced immediately after Independence. There is an important reason, he said, why progress of the Plan should be emphasised. India has been attempting to achieve economic progress in a democratic set-up, but even then the progress India had made during the first three years of the Five-Year Plan, compared favourably with that made in Russia during her first Five-Year Plan. Shri Guha said: " There (in Russia) the production of basic necessities like food and clothing fell during the first Plan. We have achieved more and without any loss of human life or dignity that is associated with totalitarism ".

SHOP WITHOUT SALESMAN

A shop without a salesman has been opened in Venguria, to test the honesty of purchasers.

Rashtra Seva Dal, a social organisation, tried this experiment last week keeping goods worth Rs. 70 for sale. None was inside to look after the shop and the public were free to entre, choose and take them away. It was left to their sense of honesty to drop payment in the cashbox kept for the purpose. The first day's ' take ' was for over Rs. 30. The Dal being satisfied with the standards of honesty decided to continue the shop as such.

HARIJAN STUDENTS ABROAD

The number of scholarships to Harijan students for studies abroad has been increased from five to ten per year. In addition many scholarships have also been granted by the Centre for studies in the country.

During 1954-54 a sum of Rs. 11,800.000 was spent on scholarships for Scheduled caste students. They numbered 11,000.

Move To Educate People

RLY. MINISTRY'S MOVE

The organisation of a drive in Community Projects and National Extension Service areas for educating the travelling public has been suggested by the Union Ministry of Railways.

The lines indicated by the Ministry for educating the public are to ensure that people queue up properly for purchase of tickets through booking windows: avoid spitting on platforms, waiting rooms, etc., allow passengers to get down first before trying to board the trains, make proper use of facilities such as bathing places, waiting halls, taps and lavatories provided for the comfort of the travelling public, avoid pushing and jostling of passengers particularly ladies and avoid travelling in ladies' compartment not intended for male passengers.

The other suggestions relate to education of the public in regard to safety first and discouragement of ticketless and other irregular travel.

The public will also be educated in the matter of prevention of lawless activities such as interference with the running trains and unauthorised stoppages, unruliness of factory workers and labour while on railway premises or trains, tresspass into railway premises, hawking and begging in railway station platforms and in trains, vandalism in tampering with railway property.

FLOOD PROTECTION WORK

The Planning Commission has, it is learnt, decided that Bharat Sevak Samaj will secure public co-opertion in the works which will be constructed to protect Bihar from the floods.

STRANGE CREEPER DRAWS CROWD

The Cobra, king of snakes, sacred in the eyes of Hindus by virtue of its adorning the locks of Lord Siva, has secured a fresh lease of superstitious respect and awe by a strange botanical coincidence in Trichi.

A seven-foot long, colubrine pumpkin plant, creeping its way over the wall of the premises of an automobile firm, has been attracting a stream of visitors, for the last several days.

The devout respectively whisper that the snake-king has ordained the growth of the creeper in that form to give shade to a naga-stone, discarded and thrown away in favour of a new one. It is stated that recently a straying cobra was killed nearby and buried with due rites. The repentant killer anxious to expiate himself of the sin, raised a shrine and installed the non-abandoned naga-stone. It was in protest against the profanity committed against the original idol that the snake-king, in his divine powers, caused the growth of the creeper, it is claimed by the believers.

NEED FOR STRENGTHENING CONGRESS

M. P. C. C PRESIDENT'S PLEA

Mysore 4

The Journalists of the city accorded a welcome to the newly elected President of the Mysore Pradesh Congress Committee, Mr. S. Chenniah, at the premises of the Journalists' Association, last evening.

Mr. H. K. Kumaraswamy, President of the Association welcoming Mr. Chenniah said that it was a matter of great pride that a one from Mysore city was elected as MPCC President. He pointed out how Mysore city had been reduced to a place of unimportance and hoped that during the time Mr. Chenniah, the city would become a little more prominent.

Mr. Pothan Joseph, Editor of the 'Deccan Herald' who was present on special invitation, paid tributes to the services of Mr. Chenniah and said Mr. Chenniah was a politician of great patriotism aud courage but without adequate ambitions. In the new world of the Chief Minister of Mysore, they should have Mr. Chenniah as the counter weight so that things should not go out of balance. He did not think that Mr. Chenniah's future was going to be merely negative. In another six months probably, they would have to once again assemble and congratulate him.

Replying Mr. Chenniah stated that he was fully conscious that politicians and the Press were like brothers. Even if there were differences between the two, they could not afford to leave each other. He hoped that the pressmen would give him that help and support necessary to strengthen the Congress, which was his chief mission.

He said the responsibility of the Press at this juncture was very great and onerous. It was essential that in the use of language in their writings, they ought to be cautious. He pointed out that the main duty of the Press was to educate the public and to raise the level or standard of the common man. He wanted the Press to criticise when he or his friends committed mistakes. Otherwise the Press would stultifyng its responsibility. But those criticisms must be devoid of personal invectives. The true functions of the Press were to speak out the truth and to give a lead to the politicians by their well balanced writings.

It was necessary, he said, to rebuild the Congress. But it was imperative that everyone in this organisation from the Hobli committees to lend their sincere support to him in this work. It was his ambition to patch up differences within the Congress and to strengthen it. But personally speaking, he did not want that there should be 'one way traffic'. He stated that the Government was but one organ of the Congress. The equally important was constructive work like social welfare service, youth movemement and ladies section.

Mr. Chenniah assured pressmen that he would not settle down in Bangalore but would be spending three days in Mysore and three days in Bangalore.

The MPCC President said he was very keen to bring about a settlement in the Electrical Workers strike and wanted that a Committee to be constituted consisting of eminent men so that their findings could be implemented.

INCREASE IN INDIA'S POPULATION

—:o:—

41 CRORES IN 1961

At the present rate of growth, India's population will increase from 360,000,000 in 1951 to 410,000,000 in 1961 and 520,000,000 in 1981, has been predicted by Dr. Radhakamal Mukerjee, Professor of Lucknow University.

Addressing the All India Family Planning Conference at Lucknow, Dr. Mukerjee stated that beween 1921 and 1941 the population increased by 27 percent, an increase unparalleled in the whole world. Between 1941 and 1951 the increase was 13.4 per cent. On the basis of census returns, India showed an average birthrate of about 45 per mille which was almost double that of the U. S. and two and half times that of the U. K.

Dr. Mukerjee added that preliminary investigations of the attitude of Indian people towards family limitation exploded the myth supported by the Central and State Governments, namely, that the people especially in rural parts were wholly reluctant and unprepared to accept family limitations.

He pointed out that studies in Mysore State conducted under U. N. auspices showed that 60 per cent of urban and 40 per cent of rural women did not like to have more children.

MYSORE CITY GOES WITHOUT LIGHT

MAJOR BREAKDOWN IN STRIKE-PERIOD

NO SABOTAGE: WORN-OUT WIRE SNAPS

Mysore, 8

The first major breakdown in power supply in the city since the commencement of Electrical workers' strike from Dec 27, occurred last night, when the city was plunged into darkness for more than 3½ hours. This was due, it is stated, to one of the 'diversion main' opposite the Forbes Transformer Station being snapped and thus twisting other lines.

When this diversion main snapped at 7-30 p. m. lights went out in some parts of the city and after half an hour the whole city was in darkness. All cinemas and shops were closed and people at the houses were put to a lot of inconvenience and lucky ones had the candles ready.

Even the All-India Radio went off the air for a few minutes and the programme was resumed after switching on its own generator.

The Electric Department was able to restore light at 11 p. m.

The Superintendent Mr. Shivaprakasam told pressmen that breakdown was not due to any SABOTAGE by the workers but due to 28-year-old worn out wire giving way. It is learnt that the Government had sanctioned about two months back Rs. 1,40,000 for replacing these 'diversion mains'.

Rs. 8000 PURSE PRESENTED TO MPCC PRESIDENT

RECEPTION IN CITY

——:o:——

Mysore 10

Mr. S. Chenniah, newly elected President of the Mysore Pradesh Congress Committee was presented with a purse of Rs. 8001 at a reception held here last evening at the Exhibition Building premises.

A large gathering of more than 1000 invitees were present.

On behalf of the Reception Committee, Mr. K. Puttaswamy, President of the Mysore District Congress Committee presented an address praising the services and sacrifices of Mr. Chenniah in the cause of the country and the Congress. The address hoped that at the present juncture when there was differences of opinion with the Mysore Congress, Mr. Chenniah would patch up differences and ensure smooth sailing.

Mr. H. K. Veeranna Gowda, former M. P. C. C. President, and Messers V. Venkatappa, M.A. Doreswami Iyengar and Dr. Annajappa also paid tributes to Mr. Chenniah and said that he would guide the Congress in such a way that it would regain its lost prestige.

Replying Mr. Chenniah thanked the public particularly the merchant class for honouring him and for the purse, which indicated their love for the Congress.

The M. P. C. C. President said that all these years, Congress presidentship was held mostly by the lawyers. Last time by electing Mr. Veeranna Gowda, representation was given to the ryots. This time, it would appear as though the merchant class had been honoured in choosing him.

Referring to the differences within the Congress, Mr Chenniah said differences were inevitable in politics. But they should not be made much of. He was confident of bringing about good relations within the Congress in a friendly way. He did not see any reason why he should not succeed in his attempts. Congress, he said was the greatest organisation in the country which had won freedom for them. As one of the early founders and one who contributed his humble part in the building up that institution at great sacrifices, he would not allow it to dwindle.

Mr. Chenniah declared that if the Congress failed in the country, Communists would step into power, which should be prevented at all cost. Other parties like P.S.P., Janasangha came into prominence only during election times. He therefore appealed to the people to strengthen the Congress.

With the vote of thanks proposed by Mr. M. Shankariah, the function came to a close.

CONCERTED ACTION FOR UPLIFTING SOCIETY

SHANTARAM'S APPEAL

—— :o: ——

Mysore, 11

Mr.V.Shantaram, the famous producer-Director of Bombay strongly pleaded for a concerted effort by everyone, including filmmen, for the next 100 years, to uplift the society and the country. He also pleaded for production of clean and healthy entertainment pictures not neglecting the moral values.

Mr.Shantaram who came down to Mysore a month back for outdoor location shooting for his techni-colour picture "Jhanak Jhanak Payal Baje", met the local pressmen last evening at Krishnarajasagar, where he is camping and had a free and frank discussion for more than 1½ hours.

Mr. Shantaram said that our country was illiterate and hardly 8 per cent were able to read newspapers. So the best media for the 92 per cent illiterate people was the films. As such every endeavour should be made to produce good, healthy and educative pictures without any 'sexy' in them.

Indian producers should never forget the country's tradition and culture and every picture should have a moral background. However lavishly a picture might be, it was bound to end in failure if there was not a good story, he said.

Speaking about children's films, Mr.Shantaram said that if the Government would come forward with financial assistance, they would certainly produce the pictures best suited for children. In this connection, Mr. Shantaram refuted the allegation that Indian films were spoiling the children. The responsibility was entirely on the parents, who should insist on which pictures their children should see. He thought cartoons were not suited as the media for Indian children as they could not understand them and their entire up-bringing was different from that of west. He also said that comic scripts were very harmful to children.

Speaking about the Central Government's taxation on film industry, Mr.Shantaram said it was very heavy and actually the Government were killing the industry.

About the Central Government's 'approved films' (documentary and news reels), he said it was wrong on the part of the Government to insist on payment bnt at the same time he criticised the exhibitors for not co-operating with the Government for screening them. There should be compulsion to screen them for afterall these pictures were produced with our money and 'we would be the loosers' if they were not shown.

Mr. Shantaram praised Mysore for its natural beauty and enviornment which were best suited for out-door shooting of films. He said that when such natural facilities were available, he did not understand why State financiers had not come forward for developing film industry in the State by putting up studios.

Mr. Shantaram's "Jhanak Jhanak Payal Baje" is the first Indian techni-colour picture with entire Indian technicians. He revealed that he had given a new and entirely different and attractive Brindavan Gardens in his picture and hoped that this would make more tourtists visit Mysore.

ELECTRIC WORKERS STRIKE CALLED OFF

THREE-MAN ENQUIRY COMMITTEE TO BE SET UP

Mysore, 15

The statewide strike of the Government Electric Employees which began on December 27 was called off yesterday evening, by the President of the Union, following a settlement between the Union and the Government. They have accepted the suggestion put forth by the President of the Mysore Pradesh Congress Committee for the constitution of a three-man committee to go into the question of the demands of the employees and make suitable recommendations to the Government.

The local electric workers hearing this happy decision took out a procession last night.

This morning all the workers returned to duty.

The workers had been told that there would be no victimisation by the Government for having participated in the strike.

The President and office bearers of the local Government Electric Employees Union called on Sri S. Chennaiah, President MPCC at his residence, this morning and thanked him for having settled the dispute between the Electric Employees and the Government.

After conclusion of negotiations at Bangalore, Sri S. Chennaiah, President MPCC issued the following Statement:

"I had talks on several days both with the Government of Mysore and Mr. Kannan President, Government Electric Department employees Union, with regard to the strike of the employees of the Electrical Department and their demands. I have suggested to the Government to appoint a three-man Committee to enquire into the demands of the employees of the electrical department and to make recommendations with respect to them. One of the members of the committee will be a representative of the Electrical department Employees' Union to be appointed by the Government out of a panal of three persons suggested by the Union and to submit its report within a period of five months.

I have advised Sri. Kannan to agree to the above suggestion and to call off the strike immediately. I am glad to state that he has accepted my advice. When I placed the above suggestion before the Goverment they were also pleased to accept them.

I desire to express my thanks to Sri. K. Kannan, President of the Employees' Union for having kindly accepted my advice and helped me in effecting a peaceful settlement. My thanks are also due to all those who have cooperated with me in bringing about this settlement."

REMOVE TWO HEADS' SYSTEM IN PARTY

CHIEF MINISTER BLAMES CONGRESS CONSTITUTION

Mysore 15

Inaugurating the All-India Conference of Government Whips here this morning, Mr.K. Hanumanthiah, Chief Minister said that in the interest of smooth, harmonious and efficient working of party system in the country, he wanted that the diarchical system of having two wings and two leaders in a party should be removed.

The Chief Minister stated that although they had adopted their constitution on British model, they had not followed their party system of having only one leader and the Chairman of the party being only the nominee of the leader. This system of two leaders resulted always in differences between the heads of wings. Here Mr. Hanumanthiah referred to differences that arose between Mr. Tandon, President of the Congress and the A.I.C.C. in 1950 which resulted in the resignation of Mr, Tandon and Mr.Nehru, leader of the party assuming leadership of the organisation also. This considerably improved the situation in centre. But in States this anamoly continued resulting in bickerings and disunity in party. "Our leaders", he said "advance any number of arguments that the diarchical system of Government was bad, ineffective and it could not work. And to-day in Congress, if you have two wings, and two heads, in effect it reduces itself to diarchical system".

Mr. Hanumanthaiah said that when there were checks and counter checks on party leader provided in party constitution, judiciary, legislature and Press, he did not understand why there should be extraneous check assigned to an individual within organisation. The party constitution was to be blamed for this anamoly and it should be removed, he added.

The Chief Minister pointed out that in the Congress Constitution nothing prohibited the Chief Minister or a minister from standing for election for PCC. But Working Committee had passed a resolution prohibiting them from contesting. He would state that this resolution was ultra vires and the Working Committee had no right to pass such a resolution. They were obedient to a wrong principle.

A delegate interrupted and said that the Working Committee had not passed resolution but it was only a directive.

Mr.Hanumanthiah said that sometimes directives were more troublesome than resolutions.

The Chief Minister therefore said that those holding responsible positions in Congress had to apply their mind to this all important subject.

The Chief Minister stated that it was to credit that Pandit Nehru had managed parliamentary affairs in the Centre very efficiently. But this should not be fully attributed to personal qualities of Nehru but to the scope given to him by the organisation as a whole

Indian unity and strength, Mr.Hanumanthiah said, could not be achieved by red type in Delhi Secretariat. But strength and unity consisted in voluntary friendship, mutual understanding and mutal regard between the topmen in Government as well as in political organisation in the country. Bond of friendship was a better foundation for unity than constitution. Therefore "we have met here today to pay our homage at altar of Indian unity and solidarity", he said.

REORIENTATION SCHOOL FOR LEGISLATORS

MINISTER SINHA'S PLEA IN WHIPS' CONFERENCE

Mysore, 15

Presiding over the All-India Conference of Government whips held here this morning, Sri Satyanarayan Sinha, Central Minister for Parliamentary affairs strongly pleaded for the need of training for legislators, and a reorientation school for legislators in the interest of a true and enduring democracy.

About 50 members attended the conference.

Mr. Sinha said that this Conference was 'second of its kind to be held since independence. But unlike the first one held at Indore in 1952, the present Conference was not being held as a party affair.

The Minister said,

"Though essentially instruments of a party, Whips have to or should in practice perform wider functions, specially in an infant democracy in which the electors and the elected have yet to learn by trial and error the essentials of the democratic process and the conditions of its success. That such recognition is still wanting is probably due to the term 'whips' by which we assembled here are known. Personally I have felt a little unhappy about it. It is essentially a borrowed term, transplanted from an alien soil with a different history, to a soil with a different environment and needs. The term appears to lack in dignity and decorum. It would perhaps 'go better with horse whipping or control of delinquents than with the ideal of keeping together a body of intelligent people on agreed lines of action and policy by persuasion. A Whip implies coercion rather than persuasion; counting of hands rather than heads. I should like you to consider whether we should not banish the term 'Whip' from our Parliamentary vocabulary and adopt the Hindi equivalent of 'Sachetak' and therby establish a new concept of our functions to remain vigilent, wakeful and aware and to inspire these qualities in others of their feternity.

If eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, we have to guide the members of groups in our charge with a sense of awareness and individual values and not merely lead them. And alas, how often do the rank and file of our legislators complain that they are being driven like dumb cattle, in the name of party discipline. They appear to suffer from a sense of neglect and frustration.

There are hundreds of such legislators today all over the country. They represent a problem and a challenge. They represent so much unused manpower-duly elected to represent millions of people. Can we afford to waste all this manpower ? Our major problem today is the dwindling number of outstanding leaders and their relative scarcity in space and time. We cannot afford to live on our past investments only.

I can say that genius is not only born; it is more often bred and nourished. It is up to us to go and find our men and having found, fix the responsibility for a specific contribution from each. This should be more than a mere obligation to vote in a certain way. We all would be interested to know from delegates from different states as to how they 'whip' up active participation from the rank and file and try thereby to build up leaders of the future. I would also like to know your views on the need of training for legislators.

The quality of Government administrative efficiency, stability of social and economic institutions, even war and peace depend so much on their personal qualities, talent and attainment. The requisite qualities cannot be learned through experience only. They need to be developed consciously and we should be prepared to consider the idea of a reorientation school for legislators in the interests of a true and enduring democracy.

Our Problems are essentially human and psychological. Sachetaks of the Congress Party at the Centre and in most States have had on the whole an easy time of it owing to their preponderant majority. Their powers of guiding legislators have not yet been put to the test in a serious way. But that should not make us the less aware of our ultimate duties. In fact this is just the time when we can afford to be less political and more positive in our functions. To the extent that our energies are not exhausted in maintaining a following, we should devote them to improving the quality of legislators in our charge. I fear we shall not be able to do so unless we shake off some of the current conceptions of our duties and accept more progressive and constructive rules and prepare ourselves for them.

He thought that when Annamalai University with an annual income of Rs. 14 lakhs could have such a College, he did not understand why Mysore University with its annual expenditure of Rs. 50 lakhs should not possess a Music College. He had discussions with the Vice-Chancellor on this matter and he hoped that the University would accept his proposal.

REORIENTATION SCHOOL EOR LEGISLATORS

WHIPS' CONFERENCE RECOMMENDATIONS

———:0:———

Mysore 17

The All India Conference of Government whips presided over by Shri Satyanarayan Sinha, Minister for Parliamentary Affairs concluded its deliberations yesterday. The Conference passed number of resolutions and of these, the most significant is perhaps the one relating to the establishment of a reorienation Institute for Legislators. The resolution embodies the unanimous opinion of the Conference that in the growing complexities of Government functions in the present day conditions, legislators should be enabled to develop special grasp over them through spcially organised reorientation courses of study.

Sardar Daljit Singh's resolution seeking to permit members to abstain from voting on certain matters on grounds of conscientious objection was not accepted.

The Conference devoted attention to day-to-day relations between Whips and members and came to the conclusion that a too rigid control over moving of amendments by members of the Party would not be advisable. In this connection the President pointed out that despite strong views held by Ministers on the content of Bills piloted by them, they were often persuaded into changing them and accepting amendments.

There was free exchange of views on various matters in the different States and this enabled the Conference to note certain anomalies; for example the Chief Minister in a certain State being the Leader of both the Assembly and the Council or the Deputy Chief Whip in certain States having a Minister's rank while the Chief Whip does not have any such rank.

The Conference adopted the Hindi equivalents of MUKHYA, UP MUKHYA and SUCHETAK for CHIEF, DEPUTY CHIEF and WHIP and has recommended to the States the need for defining precisely the functions and responsibalities of Whips and allowing them to perform their functions effectively.

Winding up the Conference, the President paid tributes to the Whips for their exemplary conduct here and said that whips' duty being to bring together members and to keep them in good humour, they could have believed their name if they had themselves rangled.

Mr. Sinha pointed out that owing to adult franchise and fixing up no educational qualifications for candidates to stand for election large number of legislators returned were illiterate. He instanced a case of a member of Parliament who could not even sign his name. So he stressed the paramount need for giving training to legislators so that they might gain some elementary knowledge of Parliamentary affairs.

SPREAD OF HINDI IN MYSORE

Bangalore 18

Mr. H. Siddaveerappa, Home Minister delivering the convocation address of the Mysore Hindi Sahitya Parishat, here yesterday referred to the low percentage of literacy in the State and said it was no satisfaction for them that there should be just a few bright stars and that the mass of the people should dwell in darkness. But he was hopeful that under the inspiring lead of Pandit Nehru, the task of wiping out illiteracy in the country and the provision of ' Gnana Jyoti ' to the people was not an impossible task.

Mr. Siddaveerappa stated that there had been no fanaticism and no narrow minded-ness in any of the development efforts made by Mysore in consonance with the schemes of the Union Government and this policy applied to the spread of Hindi also in the State. Although the State language was Kannada, systematic efforts were now being made to place Hindi on the pedestal that it deserved and in the new Educational Reforms, Hindi had its rightful place.

The Minister was glad that the Parishat had grown and today they had over a hundred Pracharaks working not only in urban parts but also in the rural areas of the State. Ever since its inception, 2842 pupils had been trained. The Parishat had also ventured to start a Hindi Teachers' Training College.

The Government of India have reconsidered the question and decided to extend the concession further up to December 31, 1959, says a Union Government Press Note.

D. P. I.'S ANNOUNCEMENT

JOURNALISM STUDENTS' TOUR

Mysore 19

The senior students of the Journalism course in the Maharaja's College entertained the local pressmen on Monday and narrated their experiences gained during their recent tour and visit to various newspaper offices in Madras, Nagpur, New Delhi and Bombay.

NEHRU HANDS OVER CHARGE TO NEW PRESIDENT

Today, Pandit Nehru will cease to be the titular head of the Indian National Congress and will formally hand over charge to Mr.U.N.Dhebar.

Mr.Nehru's relinguishing the Congress Presidentship, however, will not free him from the responsibility of over-all control and guidance of the party's affairs, but will only lighten his burdens to some extent.

The impact of his personality on the Congress organisation, of which he has been the President during critical periods for over 10 years-a record in the history of the Congress-has rendered his directing hand today indispensable to the party.

Looking back to August 1947, when power was transferred, the picture one sees in the political, economic and administrative spheres today is quite a contrast and the changes which Mr. Nehru has effected since then have been profound.

From the Governmental to party affairs, Mr. Nehru had often been disturbed at the realisation that the Congress organisation was so much dependent upon his personal leadership. Sensitive by nature, Mr. Nehru had been distressed over factions and internal wrangles within the party in many States, especially in the legislative activities.

HISTORICAL RECORDS COMMISSION

Mysore, 19

Mr.D.S.Achuta Rao, History Lecturer in the Maharaja's College has been appointed by the Union Government, as a corresponding member of the Indian Historical Records Commission, a body of experts concerned with the research and publication of historical records connected with modern Indian History.

DHEBAR WANTS TO BE " TOURING CHIEF "

Mr. U. N. Dhebar. the new Congress President would like to be a 'touring President' of the organisation.

He said that in the present context of the evolution of the Indian people it was essential that there should be someone who would objectively assess the situation as it obtained in the country and interpret the same to the Congress Governments both in the Centre and in the States.

According to him both the Government and the people were looking at the various pressing problems facing the country more or less in a subjective way and it was necessary that between these two, there should be a third party who would objectively study the situation. It was his ambition to supply this need because as the head of the national organisation, the Congress. was no mere political party he felt that it was his duty to endeavour on these lines.

NON-VIOLENT SOCIAL ORDER-CONG. GOAL

SERVICE TO MASSES

CONGRESS PRESIDENT'S GALL

Satyamurthinagar, 21

" A social order based upon Truth and Non-violence is our goal and will remain unchanged till it is achieved," said Congress President Dhebar, delivering the presidential address at the Diamond Jubilee session of the Indian National Congress here today.

"Neither the Communist nor Capitalist pattern can offer us a solution," said Mr. Dhebar, "Our outlook on life is wholly different. While we do not discount the economic aspect as wholly irrelevant, we believe that a good society is possible only if it is based on the fundamental urge of man's moral nature. In terms of practical politics, this means that incentives other than material can also provide motive power for economic and social advance."

Power or no power, Congress must continue to play its role outside the framework of administrative responsibility by identifying itself with the masses in a spirit of service and sacrifice to attain its objective, Mr. Dhebar said. Election were only part of its bigger responsibility, even though they were a substantial part.

One of the most important things that should be done by the organisation was to enable the people to built up their inner strength, as that would be the ultimate keystone of their liberty and prosperity.

If Congress was to develop its strength to the full, they could not dispense with either the Charka or Khadi, or similar other items of Bapu's Constructive Programme.

Congratulating Mr. Nehru and the Government of India on their policy of peaceful co-existence, Mr. Dhebar said the Government "can always count upon our fullest support in furtherance of that policy."

Mr. Dhebar also referred to the Bhoodan movement and said it not only needed their whole-hearted support and co-operation, but also their closest identification.

Referring to large-scale unemployment in the country, the Congress President said, " The employment aspect demands the biggest priority, and while adjustment can be made in the direction of developing a common production programme for the small-scale and cottage industries in relation to the large-scale industries, reservation of spheres can only mean absolute priority for small-scale and cottage industries in these fields. "

The Congress President made a fervent appeal to the people to continue to accept simplicity and austerity and save to the utmost extent, so that every anna that was saved could be ploughed back to finance schemes of development. They should also take over, as far as possible, the responsibility of developing, on a voluntary or semi-voluntary basis, the social service sector, so that the money so saved could be utilised for developing the primary and secondary sectors of their economy.

Referring to education, Mr. Dhebar said the new social order of their conception must be supplied its base and only the Basic system of education could provide it.

Warning against the evils of castism, he said they should make a final determined affort to shake off caste distinctions completely as these ultimately bred complexes which were inconsistent with their loyalty to the principles of a united nation.

In conclusion, Mr. Dhear said that, " while the atmosphare in the world is surcharged with a revolutionary spirit, India is also working out a revolution, though of a different character. The wheel of revolution must run its full course, so that not only India prospers, but her stability and prosperity may be the beaconlight to struggling humanity in other parts of the globe.

"Let us go ahead with our mission of peace in the world and progress and development of our country for which we have been striving all these 70 years".

INDIA HAS MANY SURPRISES FOR WORLD

MARSHAL TITO'S TRIBUTES TO INDIA'S GREAT ACHIEVEMENT

Mysore, 24

Marshal Tito, Yugoslav President who arrived here on Saturday evening left this morning for Bangalore enroute Cochin. At Lalithamahal palace Marshal Tito bade farewell to Mysore Rajapramukh and other officials present there to see him.

During his forty hours stay in city, Marshal Tito had a pleasant time.

Yesterday morning Marshal Tito and party with Mysore Rajapramukh and Bharatpur Maharajah visited the Zoo where they spent more than forty-five minutes. At the open enclosure where the tigers were allowed to roam about freely, Marshal Tito was attracted by the ferocity of the tigress manifested by running about growling. When Marshal Tito's party was busy in clicking their cameras at the tigress, Marshal Tito snatched a camera from a colleague and took snaps of the animal.

Another interesting incident was when Yugoslav Vice President Alexander Rankovic approached the cage of the Polar Bears, to take a snap, one of the bears enjoying its cold bath splashed water on him and actually pounced as if to snatch away camera to show its displeasure at interference of outsiders.

Marshal Tito was presented with a pair of nine months baby panthers by the Rajapramukh.

Marshal Tito also visited the Government Sandal oil factory where he went round evincing interest and shaking hands with the workers. Here he was presented with a billet of sandal wood and sample packet of sandal powder.

Marshal Tito then proceeded to Mysore A. I. R. station where he recorded his farewell message which would be broadcast by Delhi A. I. R. at 8-45 p. m. tonight.

Later, Marshal Tito paid a courtesy call on Mysore Rajapramukh at the Palace, where His Highness took him round. Marshal Tito was then introduced to the members of the Royal Family. His Highness presented Marshal as a momento with a beautiful walking stick with ivory carved elephant's head on top.

In the afternoon, Marshal Tito visited the Government silk weaving factory. On the way the workers of the silk filature presented him with a cacoon garland. Then he visited the Chamarajendra Technical Institute. He evinced keen interest in fine craftsmanship in the ivory and wood carvings.

ALBUMS PRESENTED TO TITO

Mysore 24

The Tourist Bureau at Krishnarajsagar presented, two beautiful photographic views albums to Marshal Tito during his visit to Krishnarajsagar yesterday evening. The Marshall received them with appreciation.

Marshal Tito next motored to Brindavan Gardens in K. R. Sagar. At the North Bank, he was received by the Superintending Engineer Krishnaswamy and the Mandya Deputy Commissioner D. Balraj who explained the first major irrigation project undertaken by the State fifty years ago. Then Marshal and party went boating in the Cauvery. He also went round the children's park. From the south end portico Marshal Tito viewed and enjoyed the illuminated multi-colour Brindavan Gardens.

Leaving Krishnarajasagar at 7 p. m. Marshal Tito went up to the Chamundi Hills. From there he saw the Mysore city and flood-lit Maharajah's palace.

In honour of the distinguished guest, Rajapramukh held a banquet at Lalithamahal Palace last night at 9 p. m.

After dinner Rajapramukh proposing the toast welcomed the Head of the great State which had played an important and significant part in recent history and also the great leader of men whose heroic exploits for the liberation of his country had evoked widespread admiration. His Highness said "We look forward to increasing co-operation between our countries and convey our hearty greetings and friendly sentiments to the people of Yugoslavia whose mind and hearts are, like ours, being ever increasingly enlisted in the great crusade for International peace and solidarity."

Replying Marshal Tito said "we have been impressed very much by the scenic beauty of your country, its artistic values and by the very considerable advance you have achieved in the economic field within the short period of your independent existence, It has been a source of constant and a pleasant surprise to us throughout our journey of what we have seen and it clearly shows that your country has become one vast workshop." This visit, Marshal Tito said, has made it possible for them to become personally acquainted with 'your' great nation' and the tremendous efforts it was making to build up its country and to achieve a better and happier future.

Marshal Tito said "our visit to India has not only made it possible for us to get to know your people and their achievements. But it has afforded us also the very welcome opportunity of exchanging views with the great leader of your people Mr. Nehru about some of the outstanding international problems and about the ways and means where by an answer to these problems might be found. It has been a source of particular gratification to us to be able to note that our two countries are resolutely attached to the principles of independence, of equal relations, of non-interferance in the internal affairs of other countries and they hold the conviction that it was only on the basis of these principles and by developing active co-operation that peace and peaceful co-operation among nations can be achieved. Co-operation between our two countries, inspired by these principles cannot but be benefitial, both as regards the strengthening of our relations between our two countries and from the point of view of world progress and security."

Finally Marshal Tito thanked the Rajapramukh for the great hospitality and said that he was very much impressed with the scenery and wealth of historic and artistic monuments of Mysore.

Nehru Crowned

Prime Minister Nehru, against his will, was crowned as an 'Avatar of God-Rama or Krishna'.

As Pandit Nehru was about to leave a meeting of Presidents and Secretaries of PCCs at Satyamurthynagar on Saturday last, a 50-year old woman from Andhra, Bollimani Gangamamba, stepped forward with an ornamental gold fillet studded with precious stones and insisted on 'crowning' Sri Nehru herself.

After initial disinclination, Sri Nehru allowed her to please her and Gangamamba proclaimed him an 'Avatar of God' as she placed it on Sri Nehru's head 'To me you are a Rama, a Krishna' she said, 'This is the proudest day in my life'.

Sri Nehru then handed it over to the A. I. C. C. authorities.

The peasant woman, had made the ornament specially for the Prime Minister from out of her small savings of Rs. 2000. She attempted to present the crown to Sri Nehru during his election tour at Rajamahendry alone, but she could not approach him. She came to Satyamurthynagar, four days ago but volunteers could not allow her near Sri Nehru. She resorted to fast and Shah Jehan Begum M. L. A. of Hyderabad taking pity on her arranged for her to see Sri Nehru.

COMPREHENSIVE ARCHIVES POLICY FOR COUNTRY

MYSORE RAJAPRAMUKH'S PLEA

Mysore 25

Inaugurating the 31st session of the Indian Historical Records Commission held here today, His Highness the Rajapramukh pleaded for a comprehensive archives policy for the whole country.

His Highness stated that the time had come for a careful and definite study and evaluation of the transactions of British rule in India, which was now a closed chapter. The voluminous records of that period of about a century and a half had never been explored by Indian students. A scientific study of the records of British rule in India was bound to shed valuable light not merely on political history but also on every aspect of the social and cultural life of the nation in the recent past.

In the common estimation, he said, Indians had not been assigned a high place for the keener historical sense. But the truth seemed to be something rather different. There had been no people in the world that had not cherished with pride its ideals and traditions, its deeds of valour, invention and philanthropy. In India there was no doubt that there was sometimes a noticeable tendency to transform history into legend and evolve puranas of a highly coloured nature from the humdrum facts of daily occurrence instead of merely recording them in prosaic form. The capacity for making factual records was none the less highly developed.

The Rajapramukh then referred to the rich heritage of historical manuscripts and inscriptions in the country, and said that they had unmistakable evidence, literary and epigraphical, that something very much like modern archival practice was followed in far off times. It was a pity that none of the originals of these vast archives had survived the ravages of time and man. In modern times scientific archive work was started relatively late in our country.

The projected History of the Freedom Movement sponsored by the Union Government, he said, might well provide the starting point for a more active archives policy for the Union and its States. It was desirable that they should have a comprehensive archives policy for the whole country and put into execution without undue delay. Archives should be started where none existed, the requisite personnel trained and scholars encouraged by fellowships and otherwise so that they could take a hand in the fascinating task of reconstructing the past. Perhaps a place could be found for such activities in our national Five-Year Plan, the Rajapramukh concluded.

PRESIDENTIAL ADDRESS

The Union Education Minister Maulana Azad suggested to the State Governments and the Universities to institute fellowships and scholarships to enable an increasing number of students to undertake research in Indian History.

Maulana Azad, who ought to have presided over the conference but whose speech was read in his absence-said that the time had come to write a new and objective history of the Movement of 1857. The first shots of the Mutiny were fired on May 10, 1857 and therefore there could be no better occasion than May 10, 1957 to bring out a comprehensive history of the struggle and he hoped that under the guidance of Dr. S. N. Sen, the work would be completed and published on that date. Here he pointed out that the entire work of searching and examining the records in the Archives and elsewhere could not be done by Dr. Sen single-handed and therefore he had been given the full freedom to utilise the services of research scholars and staff. He assured that if necessary, he would create some special scholarships for this purpose. Special help would also be given to him to have the records in the United Kingdom, In this connection, he appealed to all those who could give any special suggestions or knew of any material which they might throw light in the matter to get into touch with Dr. Sen.

Maulana Azad referred to the programme of acquiring micro-filmed copies of records of Indian interest from various countries and said the long-term programme of microfilming Government records in their possession was also making steady progress. During the year about 3 lakhs pages of the Foreign Department and over 1½ lakhs pages of the Home Department Original Consultations had been microfilmed. Important historical manuscripts had also been acquired. He was also glad that the programme of publication had made good progress during the current year and steps had been taken to set up a Boiler for the Laminating Machine which, when in operation, would solve one of the major problems for the preservation of records.

Finally the Union Education Minister hoped that the example of Madras, West Bengal, Bombay, Punjab, Pepsu and U. P. who had set up their Record Offices on modern lines would be followed by the other State Governments.

HISTORICAL RECORDS EXHIBITION

HANUMANTHAIYA OPENS

Mysore 25

Declaring open the Indian Historical Records Exhibition today, held here as an adjunct to the conference, Mr. K. Hanumanthaiya, Chief Minister stated that Mysore had pursued a steady but none the less progressive policy of acquiring manuscripts and preserving them with the best available scientific aids.

The true historian, the Chief Minister said, would never regard history merely a tale of wars but a steady and lambent flame of life itself. After independence they were feeling that the need for re-writing the history of India was imperative. Without any intention to belittle earlier historians, he might state that conditions now are more favourable for a proper assessment and interpretation of the events of the past. While intellectual honesty had always been the aim, it was now perhaps full scope by reason of the rights guaranteed under the constitution. The impediments to a true vision of our history were now happily removed and to be dispassionate was not now so much an effort as in pre-independence days.

"Ours is a rich heritage," Mr. Hanumanthiya said, "the full meaning of which has yet to be grasped. The more light you throw upon it the more closely you bring together the several parts of our vast country; for if in a world of doubts any one thing stands our clear and indisputable, it is that our heritage is one integral unit".

Mr. J. R. Sathe, Joint-Secretary, Ministry of Education, presided.

Earlier, Mr. A. G. Rama chandra Rao, Mysore Education Minister welcomed the delegates, 80 delegates from all over the States and Universities attended the conference.

NO CARS AND BUNGALOWS TO MINISTERS

An important recommendation of the Constructive Works Committee of the Indian National Congress in its report to the Avadi session is that State Ministers should not be provided free cars.

'Like the Union Ministers, State Ministers should be made to purchase the cars of their own' says the Committee. If necessary the State Ministers may use the staff cars for official purposes.

The Committee was also of opinion that Congressmen should not occupy big bungalows and moving about in big cars after they assume offices. It also suggested that the salaries of the Ministers should be scaled down.

Mr. Bowers stressed the need for developing arts in all their finer aspects and said the best service that an Art Festival like this should do was to provide opportunity to people to practice and enjoy arts.

The speaker said that though it was rather difficult why Art was created, yet it was the result of the overflowing love of it that the artists had applied themselves in their creation. God out of His boundless and overflowing love created the Art. Hence if art should develop harmoniously without being subservient to any outside force, it should be free from control from Government or from teachers. He added that culture should be likened to the body of the society and art to the soul of that culture.

Now India had become independent, free from foreign force, Mr. Bowers hoped that she would give Art that opportunity necessary to develop its finer aspects.

OCTROI EXEMPTION FOR HANDLOOM PRODUCTS

ENQUIRY COMMITTEE TO BE CONSTITUTED BY MYSORE GOVERNMENT

Mysore, 31

Presiding over the tenth anniversary of the local Tamil Nadu Cloth Merchants' Association here last evening, Mr. H. Siddaveerappa, Home Minister stated that the Government were thinking of constituting a special committee to examine the question whether handloom products coming into the State should be exempted from the levy of octroi.

Mr. S. Cinnaswamy Mudaliar, President of the Association welcomed the Minister and presented an address urging upon the Government the need for concerted action for giving the handloom industry a new lease of life.

Mr. B. Gopalswamy, Secretary presented the annual report.

The Home Minister stressing the importance of giving impetus to the handloom industry explained the various measures undertaken by the Central and State Governments in reviving that industry. But the chief problem facing the industry, he said, was the cost of production. Government had also considered the place of handloom industry in the country's Five-Year Plan. But it was up to those engaged in the industry to find ways and means of reducing the cost of production so that they could ensure that products could come within the easy reach of the common man.

Referring to their request for the total abolition of octroi the Minister said it involved important issue of finance since it was the mainstay of some of the municipalities and as such it had to be considered by the Government seriously.

Regarding the request that Mysore Government should run buses from Mysore to Satyamangalam, Mr. Siddaveerappa said that the Government had no objection to run buses provided the people interested secured necessary permit from the Madras Government.

The Cinema Houses, Railway workshop and all other institutions stopped their activities for two minutes.

But it was very unfortunate that vehicular traffic in the city was not suspended at 11 a. m. and it went on as usual. There was not any official agency to stop the traffic and the motorists thought perhaps that it was not part of their duty to stop and observe silence.

Eager crowds who waited for hours before the Victoria Jubilee Town Hall, where a beauty contest was arranged for the first time in Travancore-Cochin, had to return disappointed. Others who bought tickets to see the beauty parade had to go satisfied with the Rotary ball and variety show organised by the club.

As sufficient number of entries were not received, Rotarians, one after another, appeared before the mike and appealed to the large number of young ladies present in the hall to come forward and give their names for the contest. As none of them did so, another futile attempt was made to persuade them by showing the attractive trophies to be presented to the winner in the competition.

In the end, when the beauty contest was given up, a disappointed Rotarian was heard to remark, 'poverty amidst plenty'.

NEED FOR PROTECTION OF WILD LIFE IN COUNTRY

MYSORE RAJAPRAMUKH'S PLEA .

The need for the creation of sane public opinion for the protection of wild life in the country was stressed by the Mysore Rajapramukh in his presidential address to the second meeting of the Indian Board for Wild Life held at Calcutta yesterday. In the absence of the Maharaja, his speech was read.

He emphasised the paramount need for preserving rare species, particularly the lion, rhinoceros, wild buffalo and the cheetah.

Several proposals for the protection and preservation of India's rich fauna will come up for consideration in this three-day session.

Certain rare species, like the great Indian bustard, the Cheetah or hunting leopard and the black buck are either disappearing or are on the verge of extinction, and the Board will discuss measures to assess their numbers by taking a census of wild game and prevent the species from vanishing completely. It will also examine the feasibility of constituting a lion sanctuary comprising the Gir forest area of Saurashtra and Bombay States and permanently maintaining the maximum lion population.

An important item on the agenda is a suggestion by H H. the Rajpramukh of Madhya Bharat that the State Governments be advised not to grant permission for the formation of SAFARI clubs. He points out that wild life in the shooting preserves of the erstwhile Princely States is threatened with extinction because of the existing practice of entertaining Government guests from foreign countries at big game shoots.

The Regional Secretary has proposed the setting up of a wild life sanctuary or national park around the Tungabhadra reservoir.

He has, in addition, asked the Board to consider the advisability and practicability of combining the Madumalai sanctuary in Madras with the Bandipur sanctuary in Mysore, because they are contiguous to each other, with a view to setting up a national park. As the Bandipur sanctuary has been maintained very efficiently by the Mysore Government, it may not be difficult for the latter to take over the management of the Madumalai sanctuary.

The Board will consider asking the State Governments entrust the work of destruction of harmful wild animals and birds to Government officials alone and issuing crop protection weapons only in areas where Governments themselves cannot control such animal and bird life. Unless this is done there is bound to be a tendency on the part of private parties to destroy all wild animals.

REGIONAL DEVELOPMENT IN NATIONAL PLANNING

' In a country of the size and resources of India, regional development has a distinct place in national planning. Each region should be able to meet many of its own common needs from local production. This does not mean that there should be uneconomic development but rather that the local market everywhere should expand. The object of such planning would be to develop employment opportunities and physical resources of each region to the fullest extent ' said Mr. Gulzarilal Nanda, Central Minister for Planning, presiding over the Seminar on the Five-Year Plan for the Southern Region, held today at Coimbatore.

He impressed on the various States the importance of increasing the tempo of activity so that the targets of the Plan both in financial and physcial terms were realised. This would help them for undertaking bigger tasks in relation to the second Five-Year Plan.

Inaugurating the Seminar, Mr. V. T. Krishnamachari, Deputy Chairman of the Planning Commission stressed the need for developing national resources in every region and every State, indeed in every district and every village so that standard of living could be raised and employment found.

OBSERVATORIES TO STUDY NATURE

MYSORE RAJAPRAMUKH'S SUGGESTION

The Rajapramukh of Mysore, Chairman of the Indian Board for Wild Life has suggested the setting up of " Nature Observatories " in the country.

It would be very useful to our national planning, he said, if one or more areas were set apart for what are known as nature observatories. They could best be organised by the Forest Departments in the States, especially in very large areas where timber afforestation work was in progress. A ' nature observatory ' could cover an area of 500 sq. miles or more and could be a place for intensive research not only in connection with methods of game protection, but also with regard to subjects like climatology, sylviculture, plant growth, soil erosion and water conservation. A great deal of important and most useful material, he felt, could be collected from such study conducted over a period of years.

WOMEN'S ROLE IN COMMUNITY LIVING

Women have a special duty to restore the values of moral integrity, humaneness, charity towards all and selfless service for humanity, according to Smt. Lakshmi Menon, Parliamentary Secretary to the Prime Minister.

Addressing the All-India Women's Conference at Phaltan she observed that men were too materialistic in thought. Men usually talked in terms of wealth, increased production, capital formation, standards of living and other equally material and tangible things.

She added, ' These things have their place in life, but if we concentrate only on these things, it is quite possible that life itself may not be available for us to live '.

' If life is to be preserved, it is not enough that the minimum conditions of material existence are guaranteed; it is also imperative that we reinforce it by those qualities and values which make community living in the wide sense possible and happy. This should be the special task of women's organisations ' she said.

SANSKRIT-KEY TO INDIAN WAY OF LIFE

VICE CHANCELLOR'S PLEA FOR SANSKRIT STUDY

Mysore 7

Presiding over the anniversary of the Sanskrit Association of the Yuvaraja's College here on Saturday, Mr. V. L. D'Souza, Vice-Chancellor made a powerful plea for Sanskrit learning.

Mr. S. Rangachar, President of the Association welcomed.

Mr. M. P. L. Sastry spoke on the importance of Sanskrit both as a means of culture and as an instrument of education.

The Vice-Chancellor said that Sanskrit enshrined the hallowed traditions of the past and the main ideals and conceptions which gave meaning and purpose to their life. The highest values of society and the most elevating rules of conduct were contained in the Vedas and the Upanishads. These should become the moving force of the Nation Although Sanskrit was called a dead language still it was very much alive. Its poetry, its philosophy and its vast and varied literature were woven into the texture of our national existence, though they might not be aware of it.

A people who had no roots in the past were liable to stagnate and decay, he said. The Sanskrit roots of our Nation appeared to languish for sometime but now they were watered by the new resurgent, vital India. To nurse Sanskrit literature and to drive from it moral and intellectual sustenance had become a national duty. What held a society together and gave it balance, perspective, stability and sobriety was the possession of culture: It was our artists and thinkers, poets and philosophers, rishis and maharishis who had raised our culture, who had created a fundamental unity and oneness despite the differences caused by language, creed, province and caste. Sanskrit was our treasure house of living ideas and culture and it should be developed, he concluded.

Towards that end, the Central Government should give financial assistance to the State Governments for implementing it. He also stressed the need for giving greater attention to education in the second Five Year Plan.

Mr. Dave Gowda appreciated the discipline among the students of the Ashram school and also of their programme of daily work like gardening, washing of their own cloths and said private institutions like this had greater freedom for such a training than Goverment schools.

Referring to vocational training introduced in some of the secondary schools, he said that number of students was not large because of the lack of continuity of courses in the collegiate stage. But he was glad that with the introduction of multi-purpose secondary schools this defect would be rectified. But he warned that adequate number of suitably trained teachers was of utmost importance for these schools.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

MORALITY SURE FOUNDATION FOR CIVILIZED LIFE

——:o:——

MYSORE RAJAPRAMUKH'S PLEA AT ANNAMALAI UNIVERSITY

Chidambaram, 9

'Morality is the only safe foundation of civilized life... Today, in the international sphere, there is still the search for a philosophy for the U. N. O; I feel that our ancient philosophy can point the way' said His Highness the Rajapramukh of Mysore inaugurating the silver jubilee celebrations of the Annamalai University here today.

The Rajapramukh also unveiled the statue of Rajah Sir Annamalai Chettiar, founder of the University.

His Highness at the outset paid tributes to the merchant prince Rajah Sir Annamalai Chettiar for his piety and devotion to learning. The Annamalai University-- an area of a thousand acres of land had become the home of colleges, playgrounds and hostels which constituted a well-knit educational unit where a thousand students and nearly two hundred teachers came into close contact with one another. The magnificent work of the University had earned just praise from learned men and administrators, he added.

The phenomenal growth of knowledge in modern times, he said, was making the need for wisdom all the more urgent. They could not be wise without a basis of knowledge though they might acquire knowledge and still be devoid of wisdom.

It was fortunate, the Rajapramukh said, at present increased attention was being paid to the humanities. At a time when the scientist's disinterested desire for knowledge had vastly expanded the frontiers of knowledge, it was appropriate to learn the wise use of knowledge thus acquired. 'Knowledge is power' was becoming increasingly true in this age of scientific progress and expansion of the bounds of knowledge. But power could be healthy and safe only when accompanied by wisdom and the goodness that it connoted.

He believed that universities could help in the resuscitation of the great moral and social values of human existence. The content and method of higher education should be adapted to realise this conception.

The universities of India, he concluded, were showing an increasing awareness of the new responsibilities which had devolved upon them since the advent of political freedom. By developing the content of our universities along the lines indicated by the spirit of our philosophy, religion and culture, a great contribution could be made to the fund of human wisdom.

IMPORTANCE OF AYURVEDA

Mysore, 10

Addressing the students and staff of the Government Ayurvedic and Unani College here yesterday, Dr, V. M. Dwivedi, Director of Ayurvedic Medical Services, Saurastra made a fervent appeal to the Indian doctors to explore the greatness of this profound science of life and humanity.

The speaker deplored the narrow outlook and hostility exhibited by the fraternity of allopathic medicine and said that they had no right to pass remarks on Ayurveda unless they had made an impartial study and applied the principles in practice. At the same time he wanted the Vaidyas not to think that allopathy was an alien system but study every system critically and adopt them into practice.

Ayurveda had a very broad outlook from ancient times and because it was so flexible and broad as an acknowledged science of life, it withstood the affront and humiliation of foreign rule and still appeared new and fresh. So he advised the students to study the scriptures passionately and practice accordingly for the benefit of the suffering humanity.

In view of many laymen entering into the profession of Indian Medicine through back-doors and thus cause quackery to floruish, it had become incumbent on the Central and State Governments to control and regulate the practice of Ayurveda in the country, he added.

Dr. Dwivedi, who is on a visiting-tour of all Ayurvedic institutions in the country for advising the Central Government for maintaining a uniform standard of education in Indian Medicine, visited the local Ayurvedic and Unani College and had a detailed inspection.

Earlier, Mr. N. R. Shetty, Secretary of the Students' Association welcomed.

NEWSPAPERS' ROLE IN COUNTRY

Mysore, 11

Mr.S.V.Krishnamurthy Rao, Deputy Chairman of the Rajya Sabha, addressing the members of the University Journalism Association here last evening stated that the Press had the great responsibility in educating the 86-crore illiterates of the country.

The speaker pointed out that in such a vast country like India, there was hardly a newspaper per ten lakhs population. If democracy was to be successful the people shold be properly educated and in this, the newspapers had a vital role to play. Although India was of villages, it was unfortunate that papers were not reaching villages. This defect should be remedied. He also wanted that more and more space was given in Indian papers for culture, science and other local aspects rather than foreign news. Since Asia was looking towards India for its development, it was right that more news of Asian countries should be published.

Mr. Rao stated that a journalist had to be a student for ever and constant work was needed. Truth should be his writing. If all the journalists united, their strength and economic condition would improve, he added.

Mr. M. P. L. Sastry who presided stressed the need for proper education for a journalist to be successful. He stated that since journalism was at an intellectual level, it was not desirable in his opinion for journalists to join trade-unionism.

Earlier, Mr. Nadig Krishnamurthy welcomed.

NEED FOR QUALITY FOOD

Dr. ALAGAPPA'S PLEA

Mysore 11

Presiding over the Central Food Institute Gymkhana Anniversary held here last evening, Dr. Rm. Alagappa Chettiar stressed the need for changing the diet habits of the people in the country.

Dr. V. Subramanyam, Director and President of the Gymkhana welcoming paid tributes to Dr. Chettiar for his genesority for the cause of education particularly higher technical education in the country.

The Director briefly reviewed the work of the Institute and said that at the present time, there was a definite gap in regard to machinery for the utilisation of scientific research and he hoped that this would be filled up when the new Ghosh Committee constituted would take positive steps.

Mr. V Balu, Secretary, presented the annual Report and pleaded for a seperate building for the Gymkhana.

After distributing prizes, Dr. Alagappa Chettiar stated that the chain of National Laboratories were considered very important coming next to the foreign policy of the country by no less a person than the Prime Minister.

Referring to the work of the Food Institute, he said, that it was of great value as it dealt with everyday problems of man and woman. He pointed out that whenever deficiencies of food were referred to in our country, it related only to the quantity but not to quality. Fortunately the country had solved the problem of food in quantity but not in quality. Here the Food Institute could play its important part in bringing about protective, nutritive and sustaining food to the people. He also stressed the importance of preservation technique so that food and other products could be preserved at all seasons.

Dr. Chettiar wanted that the Institute should pay attention to propaganda so that their results might reach the common man. For this, the Central Government should lend financial assistance.

Every research Institute should have its own pilot plants for making research available to people and industrialists. He also suggested that the Institute take up research work in non-vegetarian food, like fish and meat.

Referring to polished Rice, Dr Chettiar said that it was not practicable to go back to handpound rice on the plea of retaining the vitamin contents. In a country with a huge population with 14,000 babies born every day, it was impossible to supply hand-pound rice. So he wanted the scientists to find a method of mechanised polishing not loosing its nutritive value.

Finally, he congragulated the Gymkhana for its activities by providing healthy atmosphere for the serious minded scientists.

The guests were then entertained to Music and dances by 'Kala Nikethan'.

More than 100 prizes were awarded. Mr.V. Radhakrishnan was declared the best sportsman and awarded the largest number of prizes, and also the rolling cup for championship in games and Tennis. Mr. S. Kuppaswamy was awarded the rolling cup for championship in Badminton, Mr. H. C. Srivastava, the rolling cup for championship in Table Tennis and Dr. B. K. Twenty-five men of modest merit have revived the dormant "Moorkh Mandali" (the League of Fools) to launch a cleaner Gaya campaign. The President of the resuscitated Mandali-Maha-Moorkha-is Sri Gaya Prasad, a middle-aged bidi worker. He has stated that the 'wise men' of Gaya had allowed the holy town to become notorious for its dirt and filth and it was now for the 'fools' to see that the holy city could not also be a clean city.

The Mandali has no constitution. The only stipulation for membership is that he must declare that he is a fool but he would regularly and sincerely devote two hours daily for the cleaner Gaya campaign.

HARIJANS SHOULD BECOME INDUSTRIOUS

CHIEF MINISTER'S ADVICE

Mysore 15

Mr. K. Hanumanthiah, Chief Minister laying the foundation stone of the new Harijan Hostel at Nanjangud yesterday called upon the Harijans to shed their laziness and become industrious.

A large gathering of Harijans from all over the taluk attended the function.

Mr. N. Madiah, M.L. A. welcomed the Chief Minister.

On behalf of the Taluk Adi-karnataka Sangha, an address was presented to the Chief Minister thanking the Government for sanctioning Rs. 62,000 towards the construction of the Hostel. The address requested the Government to sanction 50 acres of land towards the maintenance of the Hostel. It also plended for a grant of Rs.50,000 for the improvement ef Harijans in the taluk,

The Chief Minister stated that although the State Government were trying their best to uplift the Harijans, they should under. stand that the Government was there, not for one community but for the entire people of the country and the revenue of the State had to equally spent on all of them.

Mr. Hanumanthiah regretted that the Harijans were becoming lazy expecting everything from the Government. They did not like hard labour. Here he pointed out that in many of works undertaken by the Government, he found 80 to 90 per cent of the labour was from Madras side and there was not even one Harijan. If only Harijans were industrious and work hard, they could be prosperous.

Referring to grant of lands, he stated the Government was always ready to give them lands. There were nearly nine lakh acres of land for distribution specially in Malnad parts. But the Harijans wanted lands only in their places which were not at all available. If only the Harijans become adventurous and come forward to cultivate land wherever given, the Government would give them all facilities like housing, and medical. Instead of submitting applications for lands and sitting quite, they should go out and become prosperous.

Chief Minister assured the hostel authorities that the Government would give them lands and stated that acqusition proceedings had already been started in this connection. He also promised further grants for putting up a top floor to the hostel building.

With a vote of thanks proposed by Mr. N. Madiah, the function came to a close.

Scarcity Of Husbands

The large-scale 'export' of husbands to East Africa has created a scarcity of eligible young men in central Gujerat.

During the last five months, 3600 marriages of Gujerati boys with eligible Indian girls in Kenya, Uganda and Tanganyika have taken place, creating a new headache to parents of girls of marriageable age.

The new restrictive policy governing immigration of Indian nationals into British East Africa as husbands of girls residing there, which would become effective soon, had accelerated the tempo of match-making.

So great is the hurry of parents in East Africa to marry off their daughters that the usual religious restrictions regarding 'muhurat'and the ban on marriages on 'Amavasaya' days has been totally ignored,

FRESH TAXATION AND LOANS INEVITABLE

FOR SUCCESS OF SECOND FIVE-YEAR PLAN

RAJAPRAMUKH'S EXHORTATION TO LEGISLATORS

(From Our Spl. Correspondent)

Bangalore 19

Addressing the joint-session of the Mysore Legislature, here this morning, His Highness the Rajapramukh impressed on the legislators their heavy responsibility in implementation of the second Five-Year Plan and said that it was inevitable to resort to fresh taxation and loans for the success of the Plan.

His Highness in the course of his address referred to the problems of outstanding importance coming up before the House and said that they should be tackled without any bias or individual or communal considerations in the larger interest of economic progress of the State.

The Rajapramukh then referred to the impending reorganisation of States and stated that in his opinion that such reorganisations should be made only if the welfare and progress of the people concerned could be ensured thereby. He here pointed out that sooner or later they would be faced with the question whether Mysore should remain as it is, or taken into her administration other Kannada speaking areas. To take a decision on this important issue, they would have the guidance of Seshadri Committee Report and he hoped that their diliberations would help considerably the Government to place their considered views before the Commission.

The Rajapramukh, continuing said that the new educational reforms inaugurated in the State on the Sarvodaya Day could not bear fruit within one day or a year. But it would take atleast a decade. If the social life were to proceed smoothly and peacefully they had to concert measures for the success of this new educational scheme.

The House, he said should come to a final decision over the Land Tenancy and the abolition of religious Inam endowments.

Speaking about the working and revenue from the Kolar Gold Mines, the Rajapramukh remarked that the working was not satisfactory and the Government were not getting any reveuue at all excepting royalty, in recent years. Before the Government could take any action on the Report of the special Committee the House had to give its considered opinion.

The Rajapramukh felt happy that the schemes under the first Five–Year Plan were nearing completion and there was alround progress.

He pointed out that the first Five-Year Plan was mainly to the improvement of irrigation and power. The second Five–Year Plan would devote itself to improvement of industries particularly cottage and small-scale industries, rural improvement and social service. It was expected that the State would have to spend Rs. 100 crores for the second Plan, which was nearly double the amount spent on first Five-Year Plan.

In this connection, the Rajapramukh stressed the need and importance of co-operation of every citizen of the State in the mighty task of working the second Plan.

Here he pointed out that for the first Five-Year Plan, they expected to realise Rs. 23 crores of additional revenue, loans and deposits. During the first four years of the Plan, they had to realise Rs. 18½ crores, But the amount so far actually realised amounted to Rs. 6½ crores. Rs.2.30 crores from taxation and Rs. 3.40 crores by way of loans. With all these, they had to yet to fill a gap of Rs. 12 crores. In addition, the State revenue had fallen owing to increase in normal expenditure and dsstribution of land revenue with the Local Bodies.

Finally the Rajapramukh felt confident that the members of the Legislature would shoulder their responsibility with courage and win the gratitude of the generations yet unborn in finding the necessary finance for the implementation of the second Five-Year Plan.

ADVANCEMENT OF WORLD PEACE

ROTARIES' RESPONSIBILITY

Bangalore 19

Rotary will play a significant part in building a healthier community and a better and more powerful world of tomorrow. There can be no bars, political, religious or vocational to the sharing of Rotary service and ideal, observed His Highness the Rajapramukh of Mysore yesterday proposing the toast to the Rotary International at the Golden Anniversary Banquet organised by the Bangalore Club.

Hi Highness declared that the advancement of international understanding, good will and peace is perhaps never more urgently needed that at the present time when we are dangerously perched on the brink of another crtaclysmic upheaval. It is indeed ironical, he said that man should have created the greater threat to his own service and more baffling than any natural calamity. The advancement of world peace is the ultimate analysis a personal responsibality and every individual Rotarian would bear this responsibality in a worthy manner above all considerations of caste, creed and politics, he observed.

DEVELOPMENT OF CREATIVE ARTS

PRIME MINISTER'S PLEA

Inaugurating a Film Seminar, first of its kind in India, at Delhi yesterday, Prime Minister Nehru cautioned that 'we cannot allow social dangers or menances to continue'.

He stated that creative arts should be allowed to grow with as little State interference as possible but when they became a social danger, Government should come with a heavy hand on them.

Prime Minister said the influence of films in India was greater than the combined influence of books, newspapers. The number of readers of books and newspapers, he said, was 'pitifully small' and this was not due to large number of people being illiterate, because the number of literates itself in the country, with its huge population, was large.

Since the pervasive influence of the film was far greater importance in moulding the character of the people, it had to be treated as something of the highest importance in the life of the country. Because it was of the highest Importance, Government was to be undoubtedly concerned with that. It was clear, he said, that Government must take action to prevent something which society considered evil from spreading. Here he wanted that 'horror films' should be supressed ruthlessly as they were 100 per cent bad, causing adistic crimes and such films would endanger the lives of children. He also did not want films to be produced showing warfare.

Although there should be some sort of restrictions, it was a dangerous thing for the Government to become a judge of people's morals. He did not think highly of too much regimentation, what was called in Government language too much protocol, more especially, in things like dance, music and literature.

Between interference and non-interference, there was a lot of latitude for the freedom of an individual. If there must be argument as to where the line had to be drawn, the best thing was to have the argument and discuss every aspect of it and arrive at some conclusion.

A galaxy of films stars including Devika Rani. Durga Khote, Nargis, Prithviraj and Raj Kapoor, Producers Sircar, Vasan and Shantaram, Dancer Uday Shankar, Singer Pankaj Mullick and others were present.

INDIA'S MARKED GROWTH

India's greatest industrial growth has come since her Independence, though her population growth continues to outpace her food yields,

According to the sixth Statistical Year Book published by the U. N., India's population in 1952 was 372 million which was approximately 18 per cent above 1937.

India's rice population reached the record since Independence of 41 million metric tons in 1953.

After question hour in the State Assembly, today, Sri M. V. Rama Rao moved a Privilage motion on the publication of the Budget speech in a local daily of Bangalore yesterday, much earlier than its presentation of copies to the members.

Rs. ONE-CRORE HOUSING SCHEME IN MYSORE

Mysore, 7

At a meeting of the citizens and Co-operators held last evening at the Municipal Offices, Mr. N. S. Hiriannaiah, Chairman of the State Labour Corporation explained the Rs. one-crore housing scheme to be undertaken by the State during this year.

Mr. Hiriannaiah stated that the Central Government has sanctioned Rs. 100 lakhs as loan to the State Government for building cheap houses for low-income group people.

The scheme, he said envisaged primarily for persons who did not own a house and whose income did not exceed Rs. 6000 per annum. The loan assistance by the Central Government would not exceed 80 per cent of the house including land. The loan was recoverable in 30 annual instalments at 4½ per cent interest.

The accommodation to be provided in each house should not be less than 380 sq. feet of floor area and normally not more than 1200 sq. ft. of floor area. It was expected to ensure that 2-roomed houses were built and that costly structures were discouraged.

At present, he said, the State Government had in view the agencies like individuals, co-operative institutions, municipalities and local boards through which the construction could be carried on. Here he pointed out that the Corporation was in a position to construct houses comparatively at cheaper cost because they were able to secure all necessary materials in bulk. So he suggested that Co-operative and other institutions to come forward and avail themselves of this opportunity of securing building materials.

The Chairman stated that since the scheme had to be completed within one year and Rs. 10 lakhs had to be distributed within the end of this month, he requested those interested in this scheme to send in their plans immedirtely.

Suggestions were made that these new houses should not be built in extensions but in the city area and the entire work to be entrusted to local Municipality and Trust Board who were conversant with the requirements of housing in the city.

Mr. K. Puttaswamy, Municipal President, Mr.N. Lakshmana Rao, Commissioner, Mr.S. Linganna, Trust Board Chairman and other officers were present.

AGGRESSORS WILL BE HIT BACK

CHINESE ENVOY'S WARNING

Mysore 7

Inaugurating an Exhibition of photographs relating to Prime Minister Nehru's visit to China and Premier Chou En-lai's visit to India, here on Saturday, M. Shen Chien. Counsellor of the Chinese Embassy in New Delhi warned that Chinese people would under no circumstances tolerate and were not afraid of resisting aggression.

The Exhibition organised near the Statue Square by the local India-China Association is an attractive collection of more than 100 photographs.

Mr. D. R. Krishna Murthy Secretary of the Association welcomed and Mr. T. S. Rajagopala Iyengar presided.

M. Shen Cbien at the outset referred to the age-long ties between India and China and said relations between the two countries were always marked by peace and friendship and that there was no passage of arms between these countries. After the establishment of Indian Republic and People's Republic of China, traditional friendship and cultural exchanges developed on a rapid scale. Above all the visits of Prime Ministers of two countries in 1954 were of historic significance on friendly relations of two countries.

In international affairs, he said, Chinese people always adhered to the policy of peace and were able to realise right and wrong.But here he struck a nete of warning that Chinese people would under no circumstances tolerate aggression. Any interventionists and provocationists who wanted to impose war on the Chinese people would surely receive heavy blows in return from them.

Mr. Chien here strongly criticised the policy of America in intervening and setting up military block and thus endangering peace in Far East. It was imperative that America should withdraw all its armed forces from Taiwan and Taiwan strait.

He declared that any attempt to slicing Chinese terriority and pleasing aggression was harmful to the cause of the peace and to the interest of the Asia's people.

Mr. Tagadur Ramachandra Rao proposed a vote of thanks.

The Speaker pointed out that there ought to be an admission of leakage before presentation which constituted a prima facie case of privilege. The Speaker however said that he was not giving any opinion on thequestion of substance but merely deciding against giving it precedence. PRINCESS MARGARET TO MARRY

Princess Margaret, sister of Queen Elizabeth of Britain, it is reported, has decided to marry Capt. Townsend, thus defying the wishes of her family.

Although Princess Margart has returned from her Caribbean tour, the main purpose for which she was sent abroad has remained unfulfilled. She was rushed out of the country to the Caribbean sunshine to think herself, in detached cirumstance, her greatest personal problem, her decision to marry the man she loves.

As her decision is against the consent of the Queen, the Princess might renounce all claims to succession for herself and children.

Townsend's name has been linked with Margaret for nearly two years, from the time when he was the Royal Epuerry attached to the Queen Mother's household and frequently seen in the company of the Princess. As the rumours persisted he was sent suddenly as Air Attache at the British Embassy in Brussels, where he now completes two years of service.

The objection to Margaret marrying him is based on the fact that although he was the innocent party, he is divorcee with two sons.

Princess Margaret, now 25, will follow the foosteps of her uncle and will marry the man she loves.

COORG CHIEF MINISTER'S PLEA

Bangalore 11

The Western style of industrialisation was unsuited to our country, observed Sri C. M. Poonacha, Chief Minister of Coorg, declaring open the ninth Congress Exhibition, here yesterday.

He stated that the Primary purpose of an exhibition was to miror the progress achieved in several spheres of national life. In India, exhibitions organised by the Congress had a special responsibility to discharge. The Congress, though mainly a political organisation had taken a deep interest in economic issues and had been consistently advocating Swadeshi products. The purpose of a Congress Exhibition was necessarily to promote the interests of Indian products.

In India, he observed, industries were growing apace. In Western countries there was shortage of manpower and dependence on mass production of machines was therefore a necessity. But in India there was abundant man power and mass employment existed. The problem in India, was how best to solve rural unemployment which embraced over 12 crores of people. There ore the industrial plan of India should aim at solving the unemployment problem in the villages. He also emphasised the need for labour intensive schemes with small capital.

Mr. Poonacha hoped that the exhibition would enthuse people in greater efforts for the economic prosperity of the country.

One of the main attractions of the exhibition was the People's Plan stall set by the Central Government. It showed India's first Five-Year Plan translating its concepts into easily intelligible form.

REMARKABLE AMERICAN WOMAN—
HELEN KELLER

Miss Helen Keller is arriving in Mysore City tomorrow. She came to India on Feb. 20 on a goodwill tour.

Dr. (Miss) Helen Keller, deaf-blind author and educator of America, is a remarkable woman who rose above her triple handicap-blind, deaf and mute-to become an inspiration to both the blind and the deaf throughout the world.

"The two most interesting characters in the 19th century are Napoleon and Helen Kellor" remarked Mark Twain and how true she remains an outstanding woman of the age.

Miss Keller. who has dedicated her life to the blind and the deaf, has circled the globe five times in making the public understand the problem of the handicap.

In her present 40,000-mile tour of the Far East, sponsored by the American Foundation for Overseas Blind, in co-oporation with the governments of the countries she visits, she hopes to inspire 'desperately needed' expansion of facilities for reliet. education and rehabilitation of ten million blind and deaf in the Far East.

Dr. Hellen was born on June 27, 1880, on a Southern Plantation near Alabama in U.S. Her father was a captain in the Confederate army during the American Civil war. Till 19 months, she was a healthy child. But later she became a victim of a severe brain fever which robbed her of sight and hearing.

Keller, deprived of her eyes and ears, grew almost like a savage making signs of what she wanted. At the age of six Miss Anne Sullivan, a young teacher of Boston took charge of Keller. and became her constant companion for 50 years.

The very first day the teacher began to spell words into her pupil's hands by means of the manual alphabet, and within a few months, Helen had learnt about 800 words and was in a position to write script and Braille. Her desire for Knowledge was insatiable and she was hailed as 'mental prodigy' whose achievements were 'little short of a miracle'.

Later, at the age of ten, she was taken to New York to study with Miss Sarah Fuller, Principal of the Horace Mann School for the deaf. Having no idea of sound, she mastered it by working constantly throughout day and night, and much later, Helen learned to address the audience.

Miss Keller has learnt English, Latin. French and German. While at studies, she wrote her first book, 'The Story of My Life' and thereby became a popular figure and since then she had been one of the most inspiring figures in public life.

She has a deep appreciation of poetry; literature, music and the arts. She also attends the theatre and motion pictures with a companion. She enjoys music through vibrations and appreciates sculpture by feeling it with her hands. She also played the heroine in 'The Unconquered', a documentary film produced on her own life.

Miss Keller has devoted more and more time in helping the 'loneliest and least equipped of human beings', the deaf-blind.

She has won many awards and medals both at home and abroad. Keller is deeply spiritual, and a constant steady worker.

DO NOT FAIL THE BLIND AND THE DEAF

PLEADS Dr HELEN KELLER

Mysore 22

Dr. (Miss) Helen Keller, the 'wonder-woman' of America to-day spent a delightful hour in the company of deaf and blind boys and girls assembled here at the Government Deaf and Blind School.

Dr. Keller who arrived here this morning from Bangalore went round the school and saw the mutes working at weaving, rattan making and carpentry. She also saw blind compositors running their own braille press.

Later Miss Keller 'saw' a dance number staged by two teenaged deaf girls and 'heard' an orchestra by blind boys of the Institute. With evident delight, she followed every movement of the song and dance by tapping her hands through her interpreter Miss Polly Thompson. She also softly caressed the girl's face and later paid them a handsome tribute.

Dr. Keller addressing the citizens of Mysore said "you have witnessed today the triumph of the blind and the deaf over obstacles and how able they are to earn their daily bread and to become earning members of the society. You have power and influence. I urge you to open more and more of your business firms, of your offices, of your farms to the deaf and the blind so that they could make their way through life.".

Addressing the blind students as 'her friends in the dark', she said that she had lived their life and was therefore able to appreciate how they felt. She was glad to be with them on this most glorious day of their school She congratgulated them on having their own press in braille.

Calling the deaf students " as her dear pupils in silence ", she said that she was rejoiced in their increasing victory over difficulties strewn in their path. Their misfortune was not that they lived in silence but to be deaf to others' needs and indifferent to their sorrows. " Helping them to slove their problems and sharing their joys is that not the essence of love and brotherhood ", she asked. ' I am proud of your faith in yourself, in God, and in life. I know the obstacles in your path. But I also know that with discipline you will move on to new stages '.

Finally Dr. Keller appealed to the citizens to help the handicapped attain ' dignity of their manhood and womahood'. She said : you have power to meet this crying need. You will not fail them, I Know.'

Earlier, Mr K. Basavaraj Urs. President of the School Committee presenting a welcome address paid tributes to the services rendered by Dr. Keller in the cause of handicapped and said ' no political, geographical or colour can ever limit her field of service. In truth, she has been the great reliever of mankind of all their sufferings and an angel sent to us by God'.

Mr. Raja Rao, Superintendent read a Report which stated that at present there were 88 students, 49 blind and 39 deaf. The school, which was started in 1901 would be shortly celebrating its golden jubilee, he said.

On behalf of the Institute, a rattan handbag was presented to Dr. Keller as a memento. Dr. Helen Keller later left for Ooty,

MYSORE MUNICIPALITY'S PROPOSAL

BUDGET-ESTIMATES FOR 1955-56

Mysore 26

At a special meeting of the Municipal Council held this morning, Mr. K. Puttaswamy, President presiding, the budget estimates for 1955-56 were discussed.

Presenting the budget estimates, Mr. N. Lakshman Rao, Commissioner stated that they were able to balance the budget by taking into consideration closing balance of Rs. 5 lakhs and without resorting to fresh taxation. But their commitment were increasing day by day and in future it might not be possible to have at the end of any year the heavy closing balance that they had been able to save in the past. So in order to augment the finances he suggested that the maximum rate on the building or land be raised to 6. per cent, electric charges on building be raised from one per cent to one and half per cent, revsion of tolls, levy of shop and professional tax.

He also pointed out that it had not been possible for them to persuade the Government to revise the compensation amount for the loss of vehicle tax.

In recent years, he said the functions which hitherto were being performed by the Trust Board had been curtailed. So all the parks, avenues and roads in the extensions hitherto maintained by the Trust Board had been transferred to the Municipality. Hence expenditure had naturally increased. The Commissioner also pointed out that they had to provide money in the budget for future years for repayment of loans to the extent of Rs. 2,67,941.

Referring to the expenditure, the Commissioner said that the sum of Rs. 1,36,000 had been provided for buildings. A sum of Rs. 6,200 had been set apart for the construction of new indegenous hospital. The Health Committee's recommendation of opening a dispensary for Municipal officials at a cost of Rs. 6 200 had been turned down by the Managing Committee.

Rs 10,000 had been provided for depreciation of Vanivilasa Water Works.

Rs. 8,14,815 had been set apart for public health, Rs. 6,500 for a projector, 20,000 for Diphtheria Wooping Caugh immnizating scheme, 30 000 for Sweepers quarters, 1,25,000 for drainage in north and 10,000 for Swimming Pond.

A sum of Rs 20,000 had been made in the budget as its quota for a Stadium to be constructed in the city by the Government.

As per the budget estimates, total receipts was Rs. 48,26,346 including the opening balance of Rs. 4,98,346. Receipts include Municipal rates and taxes 17,69,584, Special acts 1,27,400, Revenue from Municipal property 4,76,770, Grant and contribution 59,500, Miscellaneous 36,246 and Public debt 18,58,500.

Under expenditure a sum of Rs. 47,78,000 had been provided excluding the closing balance of 48,346. It includes Rs. 2,02,590 for general administration, 86 470 for public safety, 1,25,000 for public works by P. W. D., and 9,08,654 for public works under Civil departments, 13,95,920 for public health, 2,500 for public instruction, 2,500 for contribution and grant-in-aid, 60,866 for miscellaneous and 18,93,500 for public debts.

Initiating the discussion Mr: S. Linganna pointed out the neecssity of tapping the resources to augment their finances. Although he was one with the Commissioner in raising fresh taxation, he was not in favour of levy of professional and shop taxes. Pointing out their budget as 'Orthodox Budget', he said that attention should be given for the proper maintenance of the Municipal Markets, provision of more funds for restoration of underground drainages which had broken down in North and South areas.

Mr. Mahadevaswamy pleaded for proper distribution of water supply and urged for an immediate survy in consumption and distribution of water supply. He also opposed any fresh taxation.

Mr. Ramakrishnayya pleaded for more powers for the Municipality so that it could discharge its responsibilities to the satisfaction of the rate-payers. He also opposed the levy of professional tax.

The discussion had not concluded when the Council adjourned for tomorrow morning at 8-30 a. m.

INDIA'S PER CAPITA INCOME RISING

Many aspects of India's life in the eight years of its Independence are still in flux, according to the Economic Survey of Asia and Far East for 1954 published by the United Nations Economic Commission.

The survey stated that while the aftermath of the partition in India had not yet spent itself, powerful new forces were remoulding the strength of the country's economy and life of the people. Of the total population of about 370 million about 40 per cent were estimated to be gainfully engaged. The population's growth was at the rate of 1.1 to 1.4 per cent per annum with infantile mortality declining.

Despite relatively abundant natural resources, India's real national income per head of the population was only somewhere in the region of Rs. 280 in 1948-49 prices. It is still one of the lowest in the region but it is now definitely rising.

'SLAVES' INSIDE NIZAM'S RAJBAVAN

MAGISTRATE ORDERS INVESTIGATION

The Commissioner of Police, Hyderabad has been ordered by the Hyderabad Chief City Magistrate to investigate into the allegation that several persons were detained in the Nizam's Raj Bhavan against their will, perhaps as slaves.

Mr. B. G. Keskar, an advocate had filed a petition alleging that 300 adult women, 100 adult men and unknown number of minor boys and girls were detained in Raj Bhavan as slaves, over whom the Nizam wielded all powers of life and death.

The District Magistrate had earlier ordered the Police Commissioner to enquire into the matter. But the Commissione had pointed out the immunity clause in the Indian Constitution. The Hyderabad High Court which then heard the petition had rejected the reference on technical grounds.

The matter then came up for hearing before the City Magistrate.

Passing orders and directing the Police under Sec. 155 of the Criminal Porcedure Code to investigate the cognisable offence, the Magistrate held that the immunity against criminal proceedings afforded to the Rajapramukh under Article 361 (2) of the Indian Constitution did not extend to the official residence of the Rajapramukh. The Magistrate was of opinion that only the institution of criminal proceedings was barred. A criminal court was not barred from taking cognisance of an offence and having it investigated through the police or any proper authority.

on the application made by the Nizam's Advisor, the High Court has ordered stay of police investigations.

PUSA INSTITUTE'S GOLDEN JUBILEE

The Indian Agricultural Research Institute, also popularly known as the Pusa Institute, is celebrating its golden Jubilee today.

At the time of its establishment, which owes much to the initiative and efforts of the late Lord Curzon and to the munificence of Mr. Henry Phipps, an American philanthoropist, there was no research institution in India which could tackle, in a co-ordinated matter, the various problems of Indian agriculture. Durring the 50 years of its existence, the Institute has considerable achievements to its credit.

In its present home at New Delhi, where it was shifted in 1936 after the catastrophic earthquake of Bihar in 1934, it has, with its well-equipped laboratories, expert scientific staff and excellent library facilities, come to be regarded as one of the finest centres in the world for research and post-graduate training in the various specialised branches of agricultural science.

POET PUTTAPPA HONOURED

MYSORE UNIVERSITY PAYS TRIBUTE

Mysore 4

Mysore Poet "Kuvempu" (Sri K. V. Puttappa) was honoured and felicitated by the staff and the students of the Mysore University, at a pleasant function held at the Maharaja's College on Saturday, on his being awarded prize by the Union President for his "Ramayana Dershana".

Chief Minister Sri. K. Hanumanthiah presided.

Mr. V. L. D'Souza, Vice-Chancellor welcoming said that such a unique function was never witnessed in the history of Mysore. Paying great tributes to Mr. Puttappa, the Vice-chancellor said that his "Ramayana Darshana" would be an inspiration to one and all for the spread of knowledge and culture.

Messages received from Vice-President Dr. Radhakrishnan, Governor B. R. Diwakar. Acharya Narendra Dev and others were read.

Profs. Dave Gowda and Bharatharaj Singh and student H. M. Naik speaking praised the services of poet Puttappa for the cause of Kannada literature.

An address was presented to Sri Puttappa by Smt. Jayalakshammanni, Principal of the Maharani's College.

Replying to felicitations, Poet Puttappa said he was but an instrument of Goddess Saraswathi and was thankful to the great poets of the present and the past of this and other countries. He felt that any honour done to him was due to those great persons and also to his countrymen.

Sri Puttappa stated that all regional languages had their own greatness and importance and it was their duty to develop and nurture each one of them. He felt that if he was an artist, he would present India as 'Bharathi' with 14 arms, each representing different regional languages. The development of any one of them, he said, did not mean that others would suffer.

He strongly pleaded for giving first place to Kannada in the Karnataka and said it would put an end to "the frittering away of mental energy" in learning English. He deplored the attitude of the people who thought that if English was given up, the country would languish and said it was no more than true than the earlier fallacy that if Britishers left India, the country would be lost. He asserted that Kannada should be made the medium of instruction in all stages of education.

Chief Minister Sri Hanumanthiah extending his personal and the Mysore Government's felicitations, praised the services rendered by Sri Puttappa to the Kannada literature. Poet Puttappa, he said, had done a signal service by presenting the great epic in a new form. The Chief Minister said that atleast 'indeed, Kannada has won',

Finally the Chief Minister hoped that Sri Puttappa would bring forth many such great works and assured that in Democracy the poets had a honoured and distinct place,

INDIA'S FATE IN FARMERS' HAND

Prime Minister Nehru said that India was passing through a peaceful revolution and within the next ten years the face of the country would be changed.

SUPPORT TO CHIEF MINISTER

M. P. C. C. PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT

Mysore 16

Mr. S. Chenniah, M. P. C. C. President replying to a public reception accorded to him at Mandya yesterday stated that it was not his desire that merely because he had become President, the administration of the State should be run " according to my whims " nor would he claim that what he said should be law. "We do not want to interfere in the day-to-day administration of State, " he added.

But in matters of policy he said, the Organisation had a say. Such matters would be settled round the table discussion.

Referring to the expansion of Ministry, the M. P. C. C. President said that it was left to the Chief Minister to take in anybody he wanted and it was also left to the individuals so invited to join or not. " It is not my policy ", he observed, " that the Chief Minister should consult me on every step he takes; nor is it my business to advice him in the day-to-day administration. "

However, the differences with the Ministry were "very real." For instance, the Vidhan Soudha construction was not essential at this juncture. They should not fritter away their resources and energies on unessentials.

"We are prepared to give all support to the Chief Minister. It need not necessarily be in the form of asking a few friends to enter the Ministry. These could be settled, once we get together and talk matters over. It is our duty to support the Ministry if they do good work; equally it is our duty to find fault with them if they go wrong" he said.

NATIONALISATION OF K. G. F. MINES

MYSORE MINISTER'S SUGGESTION

Bangalore 16

If the people of the State and country made up their minds, it will not be difficult to work the gold mines in Kolar Gold Field, said Mr, Siddaveerappa Industries Minister in the Assembly yesterday. The Minister declared that it was better in the interests of all concerned that the relation between the Government and the companies should be governed by a specific legislation.

The Minister who moved the report of the Gold Mining Committee for consideration of the House, alleged that the Company had substantially ignored the terms of the agreement with the Government and the mines tagged on their production policy to the price of the gold. They adjusted the production in such a way that they got what they wanted.

The Minister revealed that the Mining companies had made huge profits from the inception up to the end of 1953. The Mysore Mines on an investment of Rs. 81.33 lakhs, had paid dividend amounting to Rs. 1805.79 lakhs. The Champion Reefs paid Rs. 939.84 lakhs on an investment of Rs. 43.33 lakhs. The Nandydrug Mines paid a dividend of Rs. 704.76 lakhs on an investment of Rs. 37.73 lakhs.

However, the basic royalty pa to the Mysore Governmen mained the same at 10 per based on the selling pric gold. The royalty paid was on fourth of the dividends earne

Mr. Siddaveerappa stated that more than 90 per cent of the shareholders were non-Indians The Mysore Government had made several sacrifices in the hope that Indians would be trained in the mining operations but the agreement in this behalf had not at all been respected by the management. He pointed out that among the staff there was not even one Superintendent or technical man who was an Indian.

STUDENTS' PERSONALITY DEVELOPMENT

SEMINAR RECOMMENDATIONS

The development of the personality of students, their civic sense, their cultural advancement, their economic efficiency and the psychological aspects of maladjustment and the examinations were some of the recommendations of far reaching importance were adopted at the Seminar of teacher and student delegates of Indian Universities held at Hyderabad.

The Seminar has urged that the system of supplementary examinations should be widely adopted for unsuccessful candidates at short and regular intervals.

With regard to teacher-student relations, the Seminar stated that the overall teachers student ratio should not exceed 1:20 the ideal would be 1:10. Every student should have a tutor to help him in his academic work and a counsellor to help him in his personal problems.

With regard to participation of students in the national life of the country, the Seminar was of opinion that there should be no embargo on freedom of thought and expression. But the participation must not, however, lead to the lowering of the academic tone of the universities. There should be well organised social leagues in every university.

About the psychological aspect of maladjustment, the Seminar felt that provision should be made in secondary schools and colleges for a series of popular talks on the psychological aspects of adolescence with special reference to sex. This should be given by experts.

'KASHMIR PRINCESS' DISASTER

EXPLOSION DUE TO EXTRANEOUS SOURCE

SURVIVORS' STATEMENT

The three survivors of the Crew of Air India International plane 'Kashmir Princess' which crashed in South China Sea on Monday last are of the opinion that the explosion and fire which caused the loss of the plane and its occupants. emanated from an extraneous source wholly unconnected with the structure of the aircraft.

A statement issued at Bombay by the Air India International said that the survivors were of the opinion that the explosion and fire 'were not caused by the failure of any part of the airframe, engine or fuel and other system of the aircraft'.

According to the report of survivors, the aircraft was flying at about 18,000 feet when at about 4.53 p m local time, a muffled explosion was heard and white smoke began to enter the cabin through the air ducts. The baggage compartment fire warning light came on whereupon fire extinguishers were immediately discharged into the compartment without effect, and intense fire developed and spread rapidly into the right wing, while the whole interior of the aircraft including the pilot's cockpit filled with thick smoke.

Captain D. K. Jathar decided on an immediate landing on water, owing to the damage of right wing caused by the rapidly spreading fire, the resultant failure of the hydraulic system and the heavy smoke in the cockpit which distroyed visibality. The descent and landing were made under exceptionally difficult conditions. The aircraft touched water with some force and sank almost immediately.

During the rapid decent, the air hostess and flight purser issued life jackets to all passengers and crew members and normal emergency procedure including the opening of the emergency exits were carried out.

Ground Engineeer Karnik and Navigator Pathak were thrown out into the sea on impact, while the First Officer Dixit escaped through the cockpit's storm window. They drifted to seperate islands after spending about 8 hours in water. They were rescued and brought together later by Indonesian islanders, at dawn.

The Report added that up to the moment of the explosion and outbreak of the fire, the aircraft functioned normally in every aspect. The right inboard engine which was nearest to the fire was stopped and feathered by the commander as a precautionary measure during the descent, although it was running perfectly upto then. The other three engines continued to function normally upto the time of 'ditching.'

The exact cause of the tragedy must however be left to be ascertained by the official course of enquiry after a detail examination of the werckage which lies relatively shallow water, conculded the Report.

SURVIVORS BACK HOME

The three survivors of the crew of the aircraft arrived at Bombay yesterday by air from Singapore.

Five members of the Enquiry Committee appointed by the Indonesian Government to enquire into the crash also arrived at Bombay from Jakarta.

INDIAN FOOTBALL POOR

" Indian footballers should put their heart and soul into the game; and if they are trained on the same lines as world class players, with the talent that I have seen, India can make the Olympic grade, " said Coach Flately on the eve of his return to England from Bombay.

Compared to international standard, Indian football was poor, owing to faulty training and technique. He said that correct tackling was an important aspect of football. He felt that what little tackling was done by Indian players was of the negative type-spoiling the opponent's move-and not constructive, whereby the tackler would be able to gain possession of the ball and initiate counter-moves.

Indian players, he opined, were inclined to be individualistic because of their ability to dribbling, but while this might add to his glory, the team would suffer because of the delay in their attacking moves.

DISAPPOINTED LOVERS COMMIT SUICIDE

BODIES FOUND IN TEMPLE-TANK

TRAGIC INCIDENT IN CITY

Mysore 22

A young couple being in love with each other but finding their way blocked decided to end their lives together by drowning.

It is stated that 25-year-old Ramaswamy, (Brahmin), son of Venkanna Bhatta, Archika in Sri Kantha Visveswara Swamy temple in Ramanuja road and 17-year-old Nagamma (Lingayat), daughter of Basavanna, a palace employee residing opposite the temple were in love and wanted to marry. But the parents of the girl had fixed her marriage with some other person on May 1.

When the disappointed lovers found that their way was blocked, they decided to die together rather than be unhappy. So both of them, it is stated, left the house on the night of Wednesday. Their bodies embracing with each other, were found floating this morning in the same temple tank.

The Krishnaraj Police held the inquest and sent the bodies for post mortem.

Hundreds of people who had gathered at the scene of the double tragedy were in tears when they saw the fate of the disappointed lovers.

As one of them was performing the dance with burning torches in his mouth and hands, a spark set the thatched roof on fire. A few in the gathering wanted the fire to be put out immediately, but the more religious chose to leave the task to the God.

LEGAL TANGLE OVER A DEATH SENTENCE

Death sentence passed on one Vareed by the Trichur Sessions Judge for patricide has given rise to a legal tangle.

Being refused permission to appeal to Supreme Court after conviction, Vareed, the accused, submitted mercy petitions to the Union President and T.-C. Rajapramukh but it was rejected by both.

Subsequently the accused appealed to the Maharaja of Cochin against his conviction. Pending the orders of the Maharaja, the Additional Sessions Judge issued a stay order on the execution which would have taken place on Apr. 6.

Meanwhile the State Government referred the matter to the Centre, who informed that the Cochin Maharaja had no authority to accept a mercy petition. On this advice, the State Government ordered the jail authorities to make arrangements for the early execution of accused.

The legal problems arising now are whether the accused can be executed on the instructions of the State Government when the judicial stay order is in force and how for the Cochin Maharaja exercises his executive powers. This tangle could be solved only when the courts reopen after summer recess.

Meanwhile, the accused has sought permission to appeal to the Supreme Court,

LEGAL TANGLE OVER A DEATH SENTENCE

Death sentence passed on one Vareed by the Trichur Sessions Judge for patricide has given rise to a legal tangle.

Being refused permission to appeal to Supreme Court after conviction, Vareed, the accused, submitted mercy petitions to the Union President and T.-C. Rajapramukh but it was rejected by both.

Subsequently the accused appealed to the Maharaja of Cochin against his conviction. Pending the orders of the Maharaja, the Additional Sessions Judge issued a stay order on the execution which would have taken place on Apr. 6.

Meanwhile the State Government referred the matter to the Centre, who informed that the Cochin Maharaja had no authority to accept a mercy petition. On this advice, the State Government ordered the jail authorities to make arrangements for the early execution of accused.

The legal problems arising now are whether the accused can be executed on the instructions of the State Government when the judicial stay order is in force and how for the Cochin Maharaja exercises his executive powers. This tangle could be solved only when the courts reopen after summer recess.

Meanwhile, the accused has sought permission to appeal to the Supreme Court.

SIMULTANEOUS ELECTIONS ALL OVER INDIA

ELECTION COMMISSION'S SUGGESTION

The Election Commission has suggested a number of changes in the election procedure in the country to make it simpler and less cumbersome.

It is suggested that simultaneous elections should be held for the House of the People and the Legislative Assemblies, even if it becomes necessary to dissolve some of the legislatures slightly prematurely.

The Commission would in future endeavour to ensure that polling for general elections took place simultaneously all over India and was completed in each State within three weeks.

According to the Commission, January and February appear to be the best months for polling, taking the country as a whole. It is, therefore, suggested that apart from premature dissolution of a legislature due to extraordinary circumstances all future general elections should be so timed that polling may take place in these two months.

As regards election expenses, the Commission expresses the opinion that the scale of expenditure prescribed are too low and should be raised appreciably.

The total number of voters, according to 1954 electoral rolls was a bout 18,26,19,123.

MERCHANTS' DEMONSTRATION

Mysore 30

As a protest against the action of the Municipality in cutting off electricity connections to some stalls in the Devaraja Market, about 100 merchants including 20 ladies took out a procession at 4 p. m. yesterday and demonstrated before the Municipal Offices while the Municipal Council was in session.

Shouting slogans, the demonstrators tried to enter the Council chambers but were prevented by the Police.

Later the Municipal President and the Commissioner met a few leaders of the demonstrators and explained the Municipality's stand in the matter. Dissatisfied with the reply, the demonstrators shouting slogans left the place and returned to the market.

Mr. S. C, Mallappa with a posse of police was present to prevent any untoward incident.

At the Council, Dr. B. G. Das pointed out the inconveniece caused to the public by the action of Market merchants in closing down their business in the evenings and urged for an early settlement of the dispute.

President Mr. Puttaswamy, replying stated that last year in April, the Municipality had written to the individual stall-holders that a sum of Rs. 3 and 2 8 would be charged for electricity (100 c and less). But the merchants requested the Municipality to fix up meters to each stall so that they might pay the exact charges. Accordingly they fixed the meters. As some of the merchants did not pay the electricity dues, 38 stall-holders were disconnected with electricity. As such, the Municipality's action was quite consistent with the agreement and rules and they could not go against it now.

PLANNING SHOULD GO AHEAD

Prime Minister Nehru has turned down suggestions that further planning should be held up pending the report of the State Reorganisation Commission.

Speaking at the meeting of the National Development Council held on Saturday at Delhi, Pandit Nehru stated that States Body report should not affect planning. " After all, whatover boundaries may change, India will remain the same. Therefore we should proceed with this planning forgetting what the Commission will do. The only way to work is to go ahead with things as they are and, if they change, adopt yourselves to them. "

He also emphasised that the States should examine ways and means of raising additional resources for the Second Plan, not only by taxation but also by such new methods as might suggest themselves to the States.

EQUITABLE SOCIAL ORDER

GOAL OF CONGRESS— SAYS DHEBAR

Addressing the All-India Congress Committee session at Bherhampur yesterday, Mr. Dhebar, the President called upon Congressmen to keep before them the Avadi ideals on economic policy.

The task before the Congress, he said, was to provide a basis to our political life--the basis of a just and equitable social order which would not only sustain the weight of the political fabric but free the country from the cobwebs of an under-developed economy and inhibited social growth.

Congress President stressed the need for elimination of unemployment within 10 years, introduction of basic education upto the secondary stage in 10 years, raising the standard of living of the people by doubling per capita income within 15 years and creating equality of opportunities in all the spheres of the nation's social and economic life.

He also denounced attempts at group formation and other malpractices within the organisation and warned that apart from devising ' a positive programme ' to raise the quality of the organisation through constructive work, there might be cases where the Working Committee might be left with no alternative but to use its disciplinary authority to cleanse the channels of the country's political life of the dangers of groupism, casteism and communalism.

Rajgopal, Military Secretary to the Governor and other police officials with such intention and under such circumstances that, if by that act you had caused the death of Shri Nehru, you would have been guilty of murder".

The act of the accused in pushing the rickshaw from behind the crowd, the Magistrate said, was either to cause an accident by a collision of the rickshaw with the car and there by getting an opportunity to "complete his evil design" in the unwary moments or to stop the car so that he might be able to climb on the footboard of the car and thus come within striking distance of Pandit Nehru.

The Magistrate in his commital order said "This shows clearly that the accused had an intention to deal a fatal blow and had knowledge that the blow with the knife, under the circumstances, would in all probability cause death."

CHIEF MINISTER'S ANNOUNCEMENT

Mysore, 17

Presiding over the third Taluk Teachers'Conference at Pandavapura, last evening, the Chief Minister Sri K. Hanumanthiah assured them that first preference would be given to teachers in the matter of construction of houses under the low-income group housing-scheme in the State.

Regarding the enhancement of their emoluments, he regretted that this would not be possible under the present financial circumustances. Instead he suggested an alternative way to improve their working condition. The Chief Minister stated that under the new Educational Reforms, each school would be allotted ten to fifteen acres of land on which both the teacher and the pupil would have to work. The Government would receive no payment and the produce of the land would be shared equally between the teacher and the student.

Mr. Hanumanthiah also promised that certain public works like desilting of tanks and construction of roads would be entrusted to schools and teachers and students would receive wages according to work turned out.

He revealed that the State Government would set up a Social Service Board which will decide as to the type of occupations and works to be alloted to schools in particular areas.

Smt. Durgabai after congragulating the convenors, the villagers and the Head of the Devanur Mutt for their co-operation and enthusiasm in making the project popular and useful stated that importance had been given to social service in the Second Five-Year Plan, by allotting Rs. 500 crores out of the total of Rs.2500 crores.

The Central Government have sanctioned the opening of a Department of Extension Services in the university Teachers' College, Mysore. The main object of this Department is to improve the quality of Secondary Education in the State by taking the technical knowledge and the special facilities available in the College to the secondary schools in the State. A Grant of Rs. 1,50,000 spread over a period of three years has been made by the Centre. The Principal of the College will be the Ex officio Director of the Department.

MYSORE SECOND FIVE-YEAR PLAN

Cheap Hutments For Schools—

CHIEF MINISTER'S SUGGESTION

Mysore 19

The State Planning Board which concluded its two-day meeting here yesterday discussed the various development schemes for the Second Five-Year Plan (as already reported). Following are the details of the schemes of some other departments.

EDUCATION

Sri N. S. Hirannayya, D. P. I. stated that a Rs. 35-crore scheme for second plan has been envisaged. He said that during the last four years Rs. 60.72 lakhs had been spent and for the current year Rs. 30.52 lakhs had been provided. The Director pointed out that when all the schemes were implemented during the Second Plan, 75 percent school-going age group would be educated.

Mr. V. L. D'Souza, the Vice Chancellor. stated for the second Plan they had schemes costing Rs. 11.5 lakhs--upgrading six intermediate colleges, equipping laboratories and buildings, and improving the salary conditions of the staff. He also referred to the proposed establishment of Social Service Board to make 2,000 outgoing College students render social service for a period of one year after which the degree would be conferred on them. A sum of Rs. 40 was proposed to be given to each student during his social service period. He also pointed out that in the first Plan Rs. 11½ lakhs had been spent so far and Rs 3.30 lakhs would be spent for the current year.

The Chief Minister Hanumanthiah observed that the entire system of education should be treated as one unit and pointed out that the State was spending huge amount on education and it was but right that students who were educated at the cost of the State should return to country in form of kind, at least some portion by rendering social service. But he did not want that remuneration should be given to all students rendering social service except in desirable cases. The Chief Minister depricated the tendency of construction of huge school buildings, but suggested hutments at a cheaper rate be constructed and the cost of which could be met by the students rendering social service. He also pointed out that services of lawyers and retired Government officials could be utilised for imparting the social service eduation. COMPULSORY EDUCATION NOT POSSIBLE

SAYS CHIEF MINISTER

"Compulsory education cannot be done under the existing circumstances. This idea was sponsored about 20 or 30 years ago. In those days, the students were not available. The position has now changed. It is sufficient if schools are provided wherever there is demand. The demand for schools and colleges is now increasing. Therefore, the question of compulsion will never arise. The idea of compulsory education being implemented is out of date," said Mr. K. Hanumanthiah, Chief Minister while reviewing the educational schemes at the State Advisory Board for Planning, here.

TEACHERS' TRAINING

The Chief Minister observed that to train the required number of teachers it required about 10 to 15 years. If they insisted on trained teachers, the expansion of education would have to be postponed. Expansion of education should go on simultaneously with the provision of training to teachers.

There were about 1500 lawyers in the State. They could be asked to work as part-time lecturers.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION

Technical institutions, the Chief Minister said, should not be opened indiscriminately. They should first make a survey of their requirements how many engineers they required at present and in the near future. After conducting this survey, institutions should be opened.

They might be wanting a good number of engineers and technicians in the course of the next 20 years. They should begin giving them education from now alone and from this point of view, they had to reduce Arts Colleges and increase the number of technical colleges and institutions.

INCREASE IN EDUCATED UNEMPLOYEES

President Rajendra Prasad strongly criticised the present system of education and said that apart from producing a race of unemployables, this system was bringing out students who were 'misfits' in the society, incapable of doing anything.

Speaking at the annual convocation address at the Harijan Udyogshala in New Delhi, the President said that the only way to tackle the problem of unemployment in the long run was to change the present system of education so that manual work was not stigmatised as inferior and the younger generation developed a healthy attitude towards handicrafts and cottage industries.

ESCHEW FAVOURITISM AND LOVE FOR CASTE

CHIEF MINISTER'S ADVICE TO MINISTERS AND OFFICIALS

Mysore 26

The Chief Minister Sri K Hanumanthiah yesterday disclosed that he had "strictly ordered his ministers" to eschew love for their caste and their home-town. He added that in discharging their duties they should see that justice always prevailed.

The Chief Minister more than once repeated that if he had taken Mr. Chennabasappa into his Cabinet it was not to give representation to a particular caste or taluk. But because, he was certain that Mr. Chennabasappa would discharge his duties faithfully and honestly to the one-crore citizens of Mysore State.

Mr. Chennabasappa, the Industries Minister revealed that he would see every poor and landless peasant in Periyapatna, Heggadadevanakote and Hunsur taluks was given lands for cultivation by the Government.

The Chief Minister accompanied by the Industries Minister Mr. H. M. Chennabasappa and other officials yesterday visited Krishnarajanagar, Mirle and Periyapatna. At all these places the Ministers were given a rousing reception and in Periyapatna, they were taken in a 2½-mile procession.

Leaving 'Jaladarshani' at 8 a m., the Chief Minister first visited K. R. Nagar where he met the Congress workers and discussed with them regarding grant of lands to workers who had suffered in the freedom movement.

Later the Ministers were presented with Municipal addresses. They requested for the establishment of an industry in the taluk, more grants for the Municipality for taking up improvement works and retaining the Munsiff-Magistrate Court in K. R. Nagar alone.

The Chief Minister replying promised that he would consider the sanction of grant of lands and financial help to the Municipality.

Mr. Chennabasappa here pleaded for complete harmony between the Ministers, officials and the public and said that they must create proper atmosphere for ushering in a Welfare-State. He would always welcome constructive criticisms.

At Mirle, the Chief Minister declared open Sri Chennigarayaswami temple constructed by Mr. P. L. Lakshme Gowda in memory of his late father.

Mr. Hanumanthiah replying stated that the donor had set a noble example of love for God and for one's own father. He pointed that wherever there was love for God they could find wealth and prosperity and there charity also prevailed.

Minister Chennabasappa expressed satisfaction at the progress achieved under the Five-Year Plan and said that with lightning speed the Government were opening new schools, hospitals and were providing with other amenities.

In the afternoon, the Ministers visited Yuvakasangha at K. R. Nagar where the Chief Minister appreciated the work being done by the Sangha especially cultural activities and promised them liberal help from the Government.

On the way to Periyapatna, they were entertained to Tea by the Hunsur Municipal Council.

At Periyapatna, Ministers were presented with addresses by the local Congressmen and Town Municipal Council.

Mr. Chennabasappa in his reply stressed the importance of service and said everyone should contribute his mite for the prosperity of the Nation. He appealed to the rich people to donate liberally in the cause of public service.

He stated that the Government had undertaken the expansion of rural credit co-operative societies in the State and appealed to the public to make proper use of the money. He also spoke about the efforts made by the Government to relieve water scarcity in villages and said it was engaging their serious consideration.

The Chief Minister replying made a strong appeal to the officials and the Ministers to discharge their obligations faithfully and honestly. He said that he could cite many instances where officials who were efficient and honest otherwise had succumbed to the temptation of helping 'their own people.' In this respect, the Ministers' responsibility was greater and they should ever remember that they were serving the entire State and not their own taluks or people. If the Ministers were strict and impartial in discharging their duties, he felt that the officials would naturally follow them.

Mr. Hanumanthiah declared "the day I feel that I belong to Ramanagaram taluk or represent Vokkaliga community only, my job would be in jeopardy" He said that the running of the Government was a ticklish job and compared it to electricity. If they were not careful with electricity or with Government they would come to grief.

TIME-BOMB IN KASHMIR PRINCESS

CAUSE FOR DISASTER —

SAYS ENQUIRY COMMISSION

The cause of the accident of the All-India International Constellation, Kashmir Princess, in South China on the eve of the Bandung Conference was an explosion of a timed infernal machine placed in the starboard of the aircraft. This conclusion has been arrived by the Enquiry Committee set up by the Indonesian Government to investigate the crash.

The recovery of four parts of a twisted, burnt and corroded clock-work machanism, which has no relation to any equipment or structure of the aircraft, trapped in the area where the explosion took place, provided irrefutable evidence. The Commission was of the opinion that the bomb might have been placed when the aircraft was at Honkong.

An official spokesman of the Honkong Government, is reported to have said that their Government was satisfied that the bomb was placed in Honkong Airport and police investigations were going on vigorously to find out the offenders and that they would be severely dealt with.

MASS MOVEMENT FOR REMOVING ILLITERACY

MYSORE EDUCATION MINISTER'S PLEA

Mysore, 30

Presiding over the fifth session of the State Adult Education Conference, this morning at Mandya, Mr. A. G. Ramachandra Rao, the Education Minister said "It is only since the independence and the inception of Five Year Plan that Adult Education in the new name of Social education has been undertaken on the planned basis in all the States. As part of the Five-Year Plan, Social education is given a very important place. I am sure adequate stress will be laid on this in the Second Five-Year Plan."

Mr. Ramachandra Rao said that it was in Mysore only that education reforms had envisaged the entire educational process from the nursery schools upto and including the University level. Considering the present needs of our country, we find that 75 per cent of the population particularly rural population was illiterate. In villages these illiterates were crouched in darkness and trapped with the marshes of the past.

The Minister wanted that a wide spread mass movement against illiteracy should be carried on. It was essential that all our educationists, public leaders, teachers and students should participate actively in this movement. Adult franchise was the bed-rock of our Constitution. As long as a large percentage of our adult population both rural and urban remained illiterate, the achievement of the ideal of Soverign Democractic Republic would not be practicable.

Continuing, Mr. Ramachandra Rao said citizenship training should form an essential part of adult education In order to realise the ideals they had set for themselves in the Constitution, it was enssential that the masses of our people should be awakened and educated. Co-operative community action should form the foundation on which the entire social reconstruction pregramme should be built. The Government of India had done well in the framing of a plan for the community development wherein the stress was on people's participation and self-help.

He then referred to the Proposed University Bill which was before the State Legislature in which free and voluntary social service had been made an obligatory duty in the university course, and said that the enactment of this Bill would mark the start of a mass movement spreading social education in the State.

The Vidyapeethas (Rural Colleges) started in the State, he said, was a challenge to the present type of educational institutions.They help to educate the youngmen and women to live an enlightended cooperative life in the villages. More and more of such institutions to educate the youth of the country were of immediate necessity, he added.

Appreciating the work of the Adult Education Council, Mr. Ramachandra Rao said that UNESCO had recognised this as an associate project. The Council was aware of the stupendous problem of social education in the State. Out of nearly 40 lakhs of illiterate adults, it sought to make in its Second Five-Year Plan ten lakhs literate and to roorganise the literacy scheme on an intensive basis. Each district was sought to be equipped with a mobile film unit, a cultural squad and a Vidyapeetha.

Earlier, Mr. K. V. Shankara Gowda, Chairman of the Reception Committee welcomed the delegates.

Mr. T. Madiah Gowda, President of the State Adult Education Council then briefly explained the activities of the Council. He stated that the Council was a non-official voluntary organisation doing the work of adult education in the State for the last fourteen years. Hardly 20.6 per cent of the people of Mysore were literate and when such a large percentage of population was illiterate there could hardly be any appreciable raise in the general standard of living of our people. The Council had made the organisation of literacy classes as a very important part of its comprahensive programme of adult education. From the inception more than 3½ lakhs of people had been made literate.

Mr. Madiah Gowda then refurred to the proposed Council's scheme costing Rs. 223 lakhs in the Second Five Year Plan for intensive campaign against illiteracy in the State and urged the Government of India to accord sanction for the same.

Unrewarded Virtue

A Sub-Inspector of the Nagpur Railway police found that the quality of mercy does not always reap its reward of gratitude.

Two children, found loitering under suspicious circumstances, were taken to the police station, where amidst flowing tears, they poured out a tragic tale of hunger and starvation. Much moved, the Sub-Inspector took them to his quarters and fed them.

Next, the children asked the Sub-Inspector if they could sleep in his quarters till the evening and this too the kind man allowed.

It was only when he woke up that his eyes were opened to the true character of the two little rascals--they had vanished with his purse, fountain pen and several other articles.

SCHOOLING FACILITIES FOR KIDS

Mr. Humayun Kabir, Secretary of the Union Ministry of Education revealed that the Ministry had suggested that the Second Five-Year Plan should provide schooling facilities for 75 per cent of the children of 6 to 11 years, and 30 per cent of the children of 11 to 14 years.

If this virtual target of 60 per cent for the age group of 6 to 14 was achieved, they can confidently look forward to achieving the Directive Principle of the Constitution by 1966, he added.

He also said that the Ministry has proposed minimum basic salaries for primary school teachers--Rs. 50 for non-matriculates; Rs.60 for trained non-matriculates; and Rs.75 for trained matriculates. He considered this scale to be the barest mirimum and if the country's finance did not permit of this salary, they should rather slow down the rate of expansion than denying the teachers what was the minimum.

VESTIBULED JANATA TRAINS: EXHIBITION OF FILMS

Two vestibuled Janatha trains (in which passengers can walk) from one end of the train to the other) are expected to be brought into service on the Indian Railways within the next few months. Conductors will be posted on these trains to look after the needs and conveniences of third class passengers.

This was revealed by Sri Lal Bahadur Shastri, Minister for Railways and Transport, in a broadcast from the Delhi station of All India Radio, yesterday.

Speaking on "passenger amenities" he said that dining cars on trains were being re-designed on more utilitarian lines and cheap standard menus to suit regional tastes were being evolved.

Referring to a "new scheme" which the Railways were implementing, Sri Lal Bahadur Shastri said that mobile cinema vans were being adopted to exhibit selected documentary films by rotation at important stations throughout the country, in order to "usefully fill the time of passengers waiting for trains, and at the same to give them a visual idea of what is going on in this great country of ours".

Through printed literature and loudspeaker announcements it was proposed to help and guide passengers on how they could take the fullest advantage of the various amenities which the Railways were now providing.

He said that electricity and telephone would be provided at every station where these could be conveniently made available. More than 30,000 fans had been fitted into old coaches, while all the new coaches coming on the line were fitted in advance with fans. Additional amenities for long distance passengers were being considered. An improved type of third class sleeper coach was being designed.

The Railway Minister gave the assurance that passenger amenity works "will never be allowed to suffer for lack of funds".

Sri Shastri said that 342 additional trains had been introduced and the runs of 345 trains had been extended during the three years from 1952 to 1954. There was no getting away from the fact, however, he said, that overcrowding still persisted on certain sections.

NEED FOR RIGHT PHILOSOPHY OF LIFE

THEOSOPHICAL CONFERENCE PRESIDENT'S PLEA

Mysore 4

The 46th session of the Karnataka Theosophical Federation was inaugurated this morning here at Kavaripattnam Hall by Sri Rohit Mehta, General Secretary of the All-India Theosophical Society.

Over 150 delegates from all over Karnataka attended.

Sri K. V. Sriram, member of the Reception Committee welcomed the delegates.

Sri Mehta in his address stated that because India was a Secular State, it did not mean that it was an anti-religious State, but only that it did not indentify itself with any particular religion or community. Looked at this angle, he felt that the Government's identification either with Gandhism, Marxism or Sarvodaya fell short of the ideal of the Secular State. It was therefore imperative that in India there should be complete freedom of individual preachings and practices of religions.

Sri Mehta suggested that the cultural and educational institutions in the country should help in the creation of 'mature individuals' who could make a free choice from different thoughts of philosophy and religion. He was afraid that boys and girls now turned out of schools were of immature mind unable to make such a free choice What the world sorely needed today was the right philosophy of life. He rejected the economic, psychological or scientific approaches to life as complete in themselves and declared that philosophy was an essential factor He said that Theosophical Society had an important role to play in the creation of 'nucleii of the right type of the individual' to make proper use of the institutions established in society.

INDUSTRIES MINISTER'S ANNOUNCEMENT

Mysore, 6

Mysore Industries Minister H.M. Channabasappa stated yesterday that the State Government proposed to start a Central Tobacco Research Station preferrably in Hunsur with the assistance of the Central Government.

Disclosing this at a press conference, the Minister said that the Government of India had sanctioned starting of one research station in the State and the Mysore Government were examining Maddur, Gouribidanur and Hunsur as possible sites and a decision on this would be taken in a day or two.

Since Mysore tobacco contained a large percentage of nicotine, the Government were examining the possibilities of manufacturing nicotine bye-products like nicotine bi-sulphate in the State.

He also revealed that they were considering the question of starting a Cigaratte factory in Hunsur and a plywood factory in Periyapatna.

SANDAL OIL

Referring to the sandal oil industry in the State, Mr. Chennabasappa said that they were not able to meet the ever increasing demand and two factories 'one in Mysore and the other at Shimoga' were not working to full capacity for want of sandal-wood. So the Government had decided not only to enhance the selling price of sandal oil by 20 per cent but also considering the question of closing down one factory and make the other one work to its full capacity. The Central and the State Governments were conducting research to combat the spike disease with was causing havoc to the sandal wood. The State Government also proposed to conduct a survey of supply position of the sandal wood.

FLAX INDUSTRY

Referring to the cultivation of flax and setting up a factory undertaken by a private firm in Periyapatna taluk, Mr. Chennabasappa said that the progress was most disappointing. He stated that the company purchased 18,250 acres at an upset price from the Government in 1950 with a stipulation that the company would bring 50 per cent of the land under flax cultivation within seven years. But the company had cleared only 227 acres and brought 150 acres under cultivation, of which only 55 acres were under flax cultivation. Now the Government were considering whether they themselves could take up this cultivation and develop the industry.

DREAM OF UNITED KARNATAKA

WRITERS WILL NEVER GIVE UP-- SAYS KARANTH

Mysore 10

Sri K. Karanth, the well-known writer of South Canara in his presidential address to the Kannada Sahitya Sammelana held here today strongly pleaded for the formation of united Karnataka. He declared that whatever criticisms or arguments others might advance the Kannada writers had from the very beginning cherished the sweet dream of a united Karnataka. They had suffered for it and were not prepared to give up that dream, whatever might be the consequences.

More than 300 delegates from all parts of Karnataka attended.

Sri Karanth devoted the greater portion of his seventeen-page speech to refute the arguments advanced by politicians against the formation of Karnataka. The Kannadigas, he said had lived together and ruled together a united land for centuries and today to say that 'were unfit to be together' was unacceptable. If the politicans said that the dream for Karnataka was 'traitorous' in the interest of the country, he for one would regard that as a holy sentiment. They might as well ask a nationalist not to love his own wife and children. If we let this opportunity slip by just to follow the sentiments of some of our so called leaders who were hungering either after their own self-interest or to grab power, he warned that our children and our grand-children would consider them as traitors. He made it very clear that Kannada writer if he advocated Karnataka did not do so with intention of becoming a Palegar for himself but only because he felt that his interest lay in unity and in interest of country. Our politicians are behaving like weathercocks and are preaching to suite their own conveniences. They forget that in a Democracy, political power is like a beggar's dream and losts only for a very short time. The politicans hold up before us whenever the question of Karnataka comes, the boger of 'administrative convience, fear of finance and the communal domination.' We have to consider how much of truth and logic is in their statements.

The Prisident then referred to the importance of mother-tongue and said so far as Karnataka was concerned, no other language than Kannada could take its place. Kannada writers were waiting for that fortunate day when that with Karnataka united they could live their future with them. If the people were happy, the writer would also be happy; if they were unahappy the writer was still more so.

Sri Karanth felt that it was the duty of writer to give tongue to this silent life of his readers. It was no double true that in a democracy everybody had a right to write but they should also remember that they too had a right—the right to criticise and reject. Life and literature were like twins, the breath of one was the breath of the other. Literature without life was a farce. The writer should expand his vision and experince to shape in the life of others. He should try to understand them their loves, happiness and tragadies. He should forget himself and look through the eyes of others.

Sri Karanth strongly critieised a section of modern Kannada 'literature, which try to deal with sexual subjects under the guise of truth and phychology. Such literature, he said, might be "tasty" but they were not healthy. A writer should be a moral in his treatment of his subject.

The President said that our first duty was to make diifferent Kannada variations into one homogenity. He pleaded that Universities should become centres of knowledge and not more factories to confer degrees, which simply permitted students to get a job. He also wanted that the medium of instruction from the beginning right up to the University should be in Kannada only.

Finally Sri Karanth appealed to the writers to develop an independent and influential Kannada literature which could take its rightful place in the community of world literature on its own merits.

COUNTRY'S PROGRESS ONLY THROUGH MOTHER-TONGUE

RAJAPRAMUKH'S PLEA IN KANNADA SAHITYA SAMMELANA

Mysore 10

Inaugurating the 37th session of the Kannada Sahitya Sammelana here this morning, His Highness the Rajapramukh stressed the importance of mother-tongue for the progress and well being of the country.

The Sahitya Parishad, he said, is the seat of learning and the Goddess of Saraswathi is her mother and with her there is no difference in caste or community. It is because of this Kannada literature has been nurtured by all the people. with the result that friendship, goodwill and mutual understanding has grown among them. The Parishad has to a very great extent helped for consolidating the unity among Kannadigas.

The conditions that existed 50 or 60 years ago, the Rajapramukh pointed out, when a writer use to write books under the royal patronage no longer exists. Now both the readers and authors have grown. Some sections of literatures have grown so abundantly that they can well be called the 'spring time of modern literature.' Both the University and the Parishad are publishing good books. Today there are writers in Kannada who can tackle any subject however advanced and difficult the subject may be and therefore it has become a problem how best to use them and their knowledge to the benefit of common humanity. Probably this problam may be solved when educational reforms that are now being undertaken are finalised. Whatever changes the reforms may bring about, two crores of Kannadigas can neither live nor prosper in a language other than their own mother tongue. The people can only be born in their mother-tongue, grow in it, earn in it and use it. Only then they make full use of that mother-tongue.

Karnataka is a province inseperate from India. Therefore it is necessary that the culture of the province should be in harmony with the India's culture. In this way, Kannada literature is growing by absorbing literatures of other languages and in the same way, the other Indian languages too are absorbing the world literature through English. Although this is happening gradually, yet it has created a big gulf that those trained and educated in our old traditional way can neither understand nor contemplate with equanimity the present day literature. Although this is so, it must be admitted that fusion of different languages-cultures is always a profit and never a loss, because the hall-mark of a culture is broad-mindedness. If you cut off outside world, and went on digging holes in your own house, it becomes a dark-hole.

The Parishad is working for last 40 years for the development of Kannada. Now we have won our freedom and provinces present a homegenity and the Central Government has given prominent place to Kannada. As such Rajapramukh hoped that the aspirations and hopes of the Parishad would bear fruit with greater ease.

Earlier, Sri V.L.D'Souza, Vice-Chancellor and Chairman of the Reception Committee welcomed the delegates.

READERS' VIEWS

DESCREETING THE KHABRASTAN

To The Editor, SAMACHAR

Sir— I wish to draw the attention of the public of Mysore and of the country to an outrage that the President of the Mysore Municipal Council has committed in descreeting the Khabrastan situated near the Bus Terminus on the Sayyaji Rao Road in Mysore City, by running a road over the same. I remember very well the attempt in the past to run a road through it, but on further consideration and in deference to the feelings of Muslims the idea was given up. In the records both of the City Improvement Trust Board and of the Municipal Council, it is clearly mentioned that the place is Khabrastan. What is more, there is one of the prominent grave in between the road. That the Muslim feeling is strong on this question is also well known. It now transpires that the Municipal authorities all of a sudden in a hurry have formed a road across the site. The very hurried manner in which the road has been formed shows that they wanted to avoid public notice during construction. Another significant matter to notice is that the matter was not brought up before the Council for its consideration. Being a matter both important and controversial, it should have been brought up before the open Council for consideration. I am informed that the Muslim Corporators who were present at the Municipal Council meeting yesterday lodged their protest against this vandalism, when the proceedings of the Works Committee came to be recorded.

For ages, this land is known for its clearance and its regard for the feelings and sentiments of people professing diverse faiths The Hindus and Muslims have been living in amity and goodwill. The Muslims in India have been loyally co-operating with the administration. Viewed against such a background, the present act of the Municipal authorities in forming the public road on the Khabrastan becomes inexplicable except on a wanton desire to ride rough shod over the sentiment of Muslims.

As an old Municipal Councillor of over 40 years, let me make an appeal to the powers that be that it is not too late to undo the mischief that has been done. Let me hope that wise Counsels will prevail and the wrong will be remedied without delay.

Mohamed Sait,
13-6-55. Municipal Councillor

MAKE RESEARCH ACCEPTABLE TO PEOPLE

UNION MINISTER'S APPEAL TO SCIENTISTS

Mysore 16

The Union Food and Agriculture Minister Sri Ajit Prasad Jain addressing the members of the Central Food Research Institute here this morning stressed the importance of co-ordination between research and extension service so that it could reach the common man.

The Union Minister accompanied by the Deputy Food Minister Sri M. V. Krishnappa, Coorg Chief Minister Sri C. M. Poonacha, Messrs H C. Dasappa and N. Rachiah, M. P.s and MPCC President Sri S. Channiah visited the Food Institute.

Dr. V. Subramanyam, Director, requested the Union Minister to cut the sod of the new technological block.

Sri A. P. Jain at the outset appreciated the quality and the magnitude of work done in the Institute and said all progress depended upon the discovery and research and the acceptance of the same by the people at large. Fundamental research was of a great value and it made the progress of the country possible, but it loses much of its benefit and utility unless it was extended and made acceptable to the people. They often complained that our people were not accepting the results of researches made in this Institute and elsewhere. But he would state categorically that Indian people eventhough had not the benefit of modern education, were one of the most receptive people in the world. This was lacking because the scientists had not fully carried out the results of their researches to people. It was our duty to make people convince about the results which they had achieved in the test-tubes and make them understand that those results could be achieved either in a factory or in a household.

His impression after going round the Institute, he said, was that there had not been extension work to the extent it was necessary. In the modern world they could not work in a water-tight compartment--research in one place, experimentation in another and the extension work in third--all these had to be combined. He hoped that this Institute would play a worthy role in so far as the extension of the results achieved in these laboratories made available to the common man.

The Union Minister here referred to a team of experts who visited United States to study the research and quality of agriculture with a view to reorganise, research and higher education in agriculture in India. Those experts had observed that research, education and extension were all very closely integrated and made depended on one another and the Minister thought that in our country they had to make our research and education and the type of system to be made independent.

Finally, Union Minister suggested that a scheme for the preservation of fruits industry in Malnad areas of the State and Coorg should be formulated on a co-operative and cottage industries basis for which he assured the Central assistance.

Social Service in Rural Parts

RAJAPRAMUKH STRESSES NEED

Mysore 16

Social Service ought to be the life-long occupation of every patroitic citizen. Our scheme for educational reforms and planning have recognised the supreme need of education by and for social service. In the circumstances of our country the major part of this social service has to be performed in rural areas and among the village population observed His Highness the Rajapramukh of Mysore, lying the foundation stone of the Intermediate College at Mandya, yesterday.

His Highness deplored that talented young men have been drawn and kept away from villages because of the location of the schools, colleges and avenues of employment in urban areas. He called for a well-ordered plan of education to put a stop to this depletion of the human wealth of the country.

In the course of his speech, His Highness observed that the eablishment of institutions of education and culture which combine scientific studies with practical courses as part of our rural economy will help to produce a stable equallibrium as between town and country and make our national life braodbased and truly democratic.

COORG C.M.'s APPEAL

Mysore 16

The MPCC President Sri S. Channiah distributed yesterday prizes awarded to the various ryots in the paddy-cultivation competition held in the Mysore District. Sri C. M. Poonacha, Chief Minister of Coorg presided.

Sri H. K. Kumaraswamy, Secretary of the District Ryots Association, welcoming said that 382 competitiors participated and Sri P. Khaleel of Gargeswari of T. Narsipur Taluk was awarded First prize not only to the Mysore District, but also to the entire State. The second prize was awarded to Sri H. P. Madappa of K. R. Nagar and third to Sri Veeregowda of Varuna Hobli in Mysore Taluk.

Sri Channiah after congratulating the various competitiors appealed to the ryots to take more interest and help the country in producing more grains. Here he advised the peasants to live amidst their own lands by constructing houses. He also asked the young educated people not to neglect their own houses, and to live and work for the betterment of their villages.

Sri Poonacha said that although India was an agricultural country it had not developed in agriculture because only uneducated, lazy, worthless people were put on their field by their parents as a sort of punishment. This age-old system, was the cause for our poor yield in land and cattle wealth. So he made an appeal to the parents to keep their best and educated sons to look after their lands so that they might use their knowledge for better forming.

SOLAR ECLIPSE

Thousands of devout Hindus went in trains and buses to Srirangapatnam, Nanjangud and T Narasipur yesterday morning to have their 'holy dip' in the Cauvery and Kapini during and after the Solar Eclipse.

All business in the morning was at a standstill and main thoroughfares were deserted.

Nearly four lakhs pilgrims had their bath in the holy tanks of Kurukshetra.

Scientists to throw more light on the eclipsed Sun were reported to have failed both in Ceylon and India. International teams of scientists who had taken up posts at five points along the path of totality of eclipse in Central Ceylon were denied the chance of their lifetime by low monsoonish clouds. But three Harvard University scientists and several hundred people in jungle clearings were lucky in seeing the unfolding of the most spectacular Solar manifestation of the century --a four-minute total eclipse of the Sun.

No Pavement Dwellers

TRIBUTE TO MYSORE CITY

Mysore, 24

Capt. D. Gnanaolivu, Chairman of the Madras City Improvement Trust Board who visited Mysore last week has paid tributes to the work of the Mysore City Improvement Trust Board.

Giving his impressions, he stated that there were no pavement dwellers at all in Mysore city, which was probably a a record among Indian cities. This, he said was in great contrast to Madras City, where there were 5000 families of pavement dwellers.

Another unique feature was only two or three slums were still left to be improved With the assistance of the State Government, who had just sanctioned Rs. 1½ lakhs as grant and loan, it was quite clear that within a year there would be no slums in the beautiful city.

Referring to the housing problem, Mr. Gnanaolivu stated abat a few years ago, it was computed that 10,000 houses were required to meet the housing needs in Mysore City with a population of 2½ lakhs. With the recent construction of 500 lower middle class houses and the present construction of about 50 middle class houses, all by the Trust, it looked as if in three or four more years Mysore City would have no housing problem.

Increase Wealth Of The Country
APPEAL TO LABOUR

Mysore, 11

Inaugurating the third session of the Indian National Trade Union Congress, Mysore Branch. at Mandya yesterday. Mr. A. G. Ramachandra Rao, Labour Minister called upon the labourers "to put the cause of the country in the forefront and be ready to make the fullest sacrifice for the preservation of the unity and integrity of Free India, its development and its great mission of Peace."

The Minister said the labour movement had both economic and political aspects as the basis of their various activities. With the attainment of freedom, the political factor was happily receeding to the background and the economic urges were coming to their own in labour activities.

He stated that the economic base of the labour movement was gaining predominance. It would be to their good that the trade unions should keep themselves a little away from day-to-day politics of the country. He also advocated proper organisation of labour for bringing home to the employer their hardships and suffering and secure adequate redress.

Mr. Ramachandra Rao also stressed the need for giving more attention to the improvement of the agricultural labour. In Mysore, he said there were 18 lakhs of landless labour, who were poor, illiterate and disorganised.

Referring to rationalisation, he said it should neither be avoided nor indefinitely postponed. It should be achieved without causing unemployment. This demanded a resourceful attitude on the part of the employer and a little indulgent attitude on the part of the worker and he had every confidence that Mysore would be able to achieve this golden mean.

Mr. H. M. Chennabasappa, Industries Minister addressing asked the workers to shoulder their responsibility and cooperate with management and consumers to increase the wealth of the country.

BHOODAN IS DISTRIBUTION OF POVERTY

The Governor of Bombay, Dr. Harekrushna Mehtab has expressed the view that the Bhoodan movement of Acharya Vinob Bhave was merely a 'distribution of poverty' in India.

He did not believe that the land problem was the biggest of the most acute problem facing India; the biggest and most acute problem in India today was poverty.

The Bhoodan movement, he observed, did not mean more land for the land-less, but only a change of right in land from one person to another. The Governor said that it was not necessary that every one in the country or in the village must possess land. Land should be left in the possession of those who would cultivate it on their own account and responsibility. Suitable land reform legistalation would go far to solve what was now generally called the land problem. Generally as soon as the cultivator got his fare share of the fruits of the soil, he did not care who owned the land.

Comparing the methods and views of Mahatma Gandhi and Vinoba Bhave in solving the problem of poverty, the Governor said 'Bapuji strove for the removal of poverty, while Vinobji is distributing it. Bapuji strove to create a living link of sympathy between the rich and the poor, but Vinobji by accepting the responsibility of receiving and distributing the gifts himself, has disconnected the giver from the receiver. In the absence of this link of sympathy, violence will grow and will result in disruption of village life which is the exact opposite of Gandhism'.

The report says the committee feels that in view of its socio-economic value for the unemployed rural population and also on nutritional considerations, hand-pounding industry should be organised and developed to the fullest extent. EARTH TREMOR IN MYSORE CITY

The Mysore City experienced a slight earth tremor last night at about 9-35 when people in various localities heard a sort of rumbling noise for nearly ten seconds.

At first people thought it was merely a noise of a speeding lorry. But when they felt a slight quiver or shake in their houses, they rushed out to open places.

Reports have come that persons lying on the cots felt a slight shake. The table-lamps and vessels dropped down also.

Such a report of earth tremor has also been received from Mysore South, Mandakalli, Palya, and distant places like Malavalli and Sivasamudrum.

Dr. Sibaiya, Professor of Physics of the Yuvaraja College told Samachar that the earth tremor was only a 'shock' which passed from east to west and might be due to distant earthquake. He said that in the Deccan Plateau there could not be any earth quakes since it formed part of the stablest portions of earth.
